Key Messages

- Americans at all income levels have experienced the challenges of rebuilding their lives after a disaster or other emergency. In these stressful circumstances, having access to personal financial, insurance, medical, and other records is crucial for starting the process of recovery quickly and efficiently.
- Being ready for a disaster is more than storing water and supplies. You also need to be financially ready. Starting early and having adequate insurance, a plan to pay your bills and access to your important records and accounts will help you get back on your feet faster and avoid problems with your credit when you need it most.

- The Emergency Financial First Aid Kit (EFFAK), a joint publication from Operation Hope and FEMA, can help you prepare now. Use the EFFAK to identify your important documents, medical records, and household contracts.
- When completing the kit, be sure to include pictures or a video of your home and your belongings and keep all your documents in a safe space.

Talking Points

Planning

- It is important to have control over your money now, so your family can depend on you to cover their basic needs even when an emergency happens.
- You can gain control over your money when you know how you are spending it.
- You can discover how to save for emergencies, eliminate debt, and pay your bills by creating a budget and using it.

Saving

- Ease your worries on how to maintain basic needs during an emergency by having an emergency fund.
- You should set aside some money for emergencies to increase your chances of recovering quickly from the unexpected.
- Start building your emergency fund by saving a small amount of money regularly.

Insurance

- Home or rental insurance is the fastest way to recover from an emergency. Check with an insurance agent and understand your coverage options.
- Floods can happen anywhere, and most homeowner insurance does not cover flooding. Talk to your insurance agent and see if you need to purchase flood insurance from the National Flood Insurance Program.
- Completing the Emergency Financial First Aid Kit gives you the confidence to know all your records are stored in one place if an emergency happens.
- If you live in an earthquake prone area, you should consider purchasing earthquake insurance. Standard homeowners' insurance does not cover damage resulting from land movement or landslides.

Four Steps to Financial Preparedness and Using the Emergency Financial First Aid Kit (EFFAK)

1. Compile

- Complete and date all the forms in the EFFAK.
- Use the checklists to identify the documentation that you should collect.
- If you do not have an original version of a document, contact the appropriate company or agency to obtain a copy.
- If you receive paper checks for any of your federal benefits, consider enrolling in automatic benefits through Go Direct.
- If you receive paper checks from your employer, consider requesting direct deposit.
- Print or download statements of any obligations that you pay automatically, such as rent or mortgage payments, utilities, loan payments and memberships.
- Take photographs or record a video of the rooms in your home and any valuable belongings. Include copies of these records with either your paper or electronic versions of the EFFAK.
- Keep some cash in the same safe location as your EFFAK to pay for emergency purchases if ATMs are not functioning or banks are closed. The amount of cash should be based on the basic needs of your family, including food, gas, and other necessities.
- Consider saving money in an emergency savings account that could be used in any crisis.

2. Review

- If you own a home, ensure that your homeowners insurance coverage is adequate.
- If you rent, ensure that your lease reflects your current rent and verify that your renter's insurance is up to date.
- The EFFAK will help you to identify any important personal documents or types of insurance (such as a will, living will, life insurance policy or health insurance plan) that you do not currently have. Consider taking the steps to set up these items.

3. Safeguard

- Consider storing paper copies of important documents at home in a fireproof and waterproof box or safe, in a bank safe deposit box, or with a trusted friend or relative. If you are using a safe deposit box, you may want to ask your bank or check state laws to confirm who can and cannot access the safe deposit box if the lessee dies or is incapacitated.

- For electronic copies of important documents, store them in a password-protected format on a removable flash or external hard drive in your fireproof and waterproof box or safe, or consider using a secure off-site storage service. Visit www.us-cert.gov/ncas/tips/st04-019 to learn how to use electronic encryption to protect sensitive information.
- If you bank or pay your bills electronically, we recommend periodically printing your account records to include with your EFFAK.
- If you have a lawyer, financial adviser, or trusted family member or friend, you may want to provide him or her with a paper copy of your EFFAK in a sealed envelope to be opened only with your approval or the approval of someone you have designated in the event you cannot make decisions on your own, such as your next of kin or someone whom you have authorized to act on your behalf (known as power of attorney).

4. Update

- Suggested schedule for routine review:
 - During tax preparation time
 - At the start or end of Daylight Saving Time
 - Around your birthday
 - At the start of a new year
- Changes that need EFFAK updates:
 - When you change your insurance provider
 - When you purchase a home or rent an apartment
 - When you open or close bank accounts
 - When you have a change in marital status
 - When you have a child
 - When your child changes schools
 - During retirement planning
- The EFFAK is also available in Spanish, Chinese, Vietnamese, and Korean.

Title: April is National Financial Capability Month

Part of being prepared is understanding your finances. FEMA considers financial wellness a building block of preparedness. During April, FEMA's Ready Campaign is encouraging people to improve their financial futures and prepare for financial disasters. The more financially prepared we are as a nation, the more resilient we will be to disasters. Individuals and families must have a financial plan to face emergencies — only then can we build a true culture of preparedness in every home and community across the nation.

Follow these tips to prepare financially:

- Start building an emergency fund by saving a little each month. Pay yourself first—when you get paid — rather than waiting to see what is left over after spending. People with cash on hand can recover faster than those relying on credit.
- Documenting personal property can make insurance claims easier. If you don't have the right documents, claims could be delayed. Use the checklists in the Emergency Financial First Aid Kit \(EFFAK\) to see if you're missing anything.
- Store your records in a safe place and back them up online.
- Encourage your kids to start building good money habits. Saving a little bit at a time helps them be prepared for all kinds of emergencies.
- Homeowners and renter's insurance policies do not usually cover flood damage. Talk to your agent. Find out what is covered by your existing policy and learn more about flood insurance at FloodSmart.gov.
