This guide is based on a Kansas Laws and Legal Opinions prepared by Darrin Devinney, Butler County Attorney, and a Township Study dated September 7, 2007 by the Kansas Advisory Council on Intergovernmental Relations. Butler County was the primary source for laws relating to township officials. KOMA and KORA information was obtained from the Kansas Association of Counties 2019 Deskbook.

Hyperlinks, Footnotes and Endnotes

This guide was compiled from a number of electronic sources. The author elected to leave intact all the embedded hyperlinks, footnotes and endnotes. Some of the material appears to have been obtained from Westlaw, so if using the electronic version of the guide the hyperlinks may not work unless you have a Westlaw account. Hopefully the footnotes and endnotes imported correctly, but sometimes combining documents may cause unanticipated issues. If there is a problem with the hyperlinks, footnotes or endnotes it may be necessary to refer to the source document.

Introduction & Purpose

Townships in Kansas are governed by an elected township board consisting of a Trustee, Treasurer and Clerk. These elected officials work in relative isolation without the assistance of administrative or legal staff. The townships may not have an office and may instead meet at a kitchen table. The townships have no functioning statewide association to look out for their interests or to provide education and training. But they are still expected to know and follow all the laws, rules, and regulations.

Citizens recognize the functions of the state, counties, and cities, but few citizens understand the functions of townships. Until I became Local Road Engineer at the Kansas Association of Counties, I was unaware of how little guidance there is for township officials. This guide was prepared to help township officials understand their duties and responsibilities. Townships in the 35 Kansas counties that have a County-Township road system have rural road maintenance responsibilities, and considerably more responsibilities and liability than in the other counties. Since I am a road person this guide concentrates on road issues but recognizes that the townships have other responsibilities.

This guide can be a help to township officials, but it is no substitute for legal and professional advice when dealing with specific issues.1

Duty to Motorists

As a road agency in Kansas townships have certain obligations to the travelling public that have been established by state statutes and court decisions. The major duties include the following:

• There is a duty to construct and maintain public roads reasonably safe for use by motorists.
• KSA 68-115 states the county engineer or township trustee shall keep the roads in repair, and remove or cause to be removed all obstructions.
• KSA. 8–2005(a) states that local authorities in their respective jurisdictions are required to place and maintain traffic control devices upon highways under their jurisdiction as necessary to regulate, warn or guide traffic.”
• KSA 8-2003 requires the Kansas Secretary of Transportation to adopt a signing manual. When adopted the signing manual applies to all public roads in Kansas including city streets, county roads, and township roads. The Secretary has adopted the 2009 Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices (MUTCD). There is therefore a duty to comply with the MUTCD.

Roadway Safety

Obtaining Safety Advice.

One of the major duties of a road department is to provide a reasonably safe road system. This section offers some suggestions on major items that will help make your road system safer. Many solutions to safety problems are obvious and can be handled in the daily course of business. However, more difficult problems may need advice from experts and perhaps a traffic signing or safety study. If in doubt contact the county road supervisor or engineer for advice. The county may seek technical help from KDOT, Kansas LTAP, KAC, as well as consultants.

Decisions. In all your decisions, “think safety.” If something you are about to do could adversely affect the safety of the public, it is likely not the right decision. For instance, removing a STOP sign that has been in place and working for a long time because you cannot find an authorizing resolution is probably not the right decision. The correct decision would be to ask the county commissioners to pass a resolution authorizing the STOP sign. On maintenance work where there are no plans or design, the project should be thought-out in terms of safety for the traveling public. For instance, it may not be a good idea to cut a deep road ditch if the only reason for the ditch is to drain a farmer’s field. Road ditches are for road drainage, not for field drainage.

Problem-Reporting System.

Have a procedure in place to document calls and reports received by the township concerning safety issues. Check reports received and take prompt action if the reported issue is safety-related. Make sure your employees report safety issues they see on the roads. Deputies, mail carriers, and school bus drivers have additional eyes on the road, and many townships ask these people to report safety issues they observe.

• Damaged or Removed Signs: It is not uncommon for stop and warning signs to be knocked down by vandals, farm equipment, or wind. It is important for a township to have a program to discover downed signs and repair them promptly. The Sheriff’s office should have the number to call to report a downed sign after normal working hours.

- Pavement Edge Drop-offs: Drop-offs at the pavement edge or washouts next to the edge of the gravel may cause a vehicle to lose control if a vehicle strays off of the road surface. These drop-offs occur at isolated locations such as the inside and outside of curves, but may occur along an entire route due to built-up overlays, or erosion. Make note of pavement edge drop-offs and washouts, and fill or repair them as time is available.

Uniform Roads:

Drivers have a tendency to drive in accordance with general road conditions. It is a good policy to maintain roads so that road conditions do not surprise a driver. For instance, a rough spot in a good road is more likely to surprise a driver and lead to a crash than a rough spot in a bad road.

- Training: Employees should be trained to perform their jobs properly. Certain training is required by law, such as flagger training. There is optional training that will help job performance and should lead to fewer claims.

Tort Liability

Claims.

Claims against the local governments for injuries or damages that occur on roads are not uncommon. These type of claims are generally made under the Kansas Tort Claims Act (K.S.A. 75-6101 et. seq.) based on negligence or a road defect. The Kansas Tort Claims Act usually limits damages to $500,000 and provides immunity for certain activities and conditions. The governing board is normally named in the court action and if an employee is listed in the action, the board must defend the employee if he or she was acting under the scope of employment.

A large claim for damages under the Tort Claims Act will begin with an initial notice pursuant to K.S.A. 12-105 (b) (d), which is mailed to the township board. The notice is usually prepared by the claimant’s attorney and describes the basis of the claim. The township clerk should notify the board members and send a copy of the notice to the liability insurance carrier. A small claim for damages due to a road problem is usually phoned into the township by the citizen. Most liability insurance companies want all claims referred to them. The township should have a procedure in place for noting the problem and referring the citizen to the proper person at the insurance company.

Negligence.

Most lawsuits involving highways and bridges are based on a theory of negligence. Negligence must be proven by the plaintiff (claimant) for there to be a recovery in a lawsuit. The plaintiff’s attorney is responsible for presenting evidence that will prove negligence. The defense attorney (for the township) will attempt to refute the evidence presented. To be successful in a negligence action, the plaintiff must prove the following:

1) The defendant had a duty to the plaintiff;
2) The defendant breached the duty;
3) The breach was the proximate cause of the accident/ incident;
4) There were actual damages.
The duty usually comes from a law, rule or regulation, specific relationship, or from the assumption of the duty by the township. In determining liability of the township for a crash on a highway, the court will look at the actions of the township and decide whether or not the township performed its duty to the public and to the particular plaintiff. The question of “foreseeability” is the test used by the court to determine whether or not the township owed a duty to the plaintiff to maintain a safe highway right-of-way, free of the object or defect that caused the particular accident. Foreseeability relates to whether or not a “reasonable person” could or should have concluded that an existing set of circumstances could contribute to a crash/incident that would cause injury or damage, and that the circumstance should have been corrected.

Proximate Cause. Governmental entities have been successful in some vehicular-related cases under the principles of proximate cause. This principle is that the plaintiff has to show a connection between that negligence and the injuries and damage suffered by the plaintiff. For instance, if there is a pothole in the road near where a crash occurred, the plaintiff would need to show the connection between the pothole and the crash.

Tort Claims Act Liability and Immunity.

The Kansas Tort Claims Act provides for liability of governmental entities under the same theories as recognized in Common Law. However, there are 24 specific immunities (exceptions from liability), and they are the principal means of defense used by municipalities against liability claims. A second common defense is lack of proximate cause. Of the 24 types of immunities, the following six types especially apply to vehicular claims:

- Discretionary Function Immunity: The exercise or performance or the failure to exercise or perform a discretionary function or duty on the part of a governmental entity or employee, whether or not the discretion is abused and regardless of the level of discretion involved. For example, it may be discretionary to install STOP signs at a rural intersection. Once the discretionary decision is made to install a STOP sign it becomes a duty to maintain the sign properly.

- Design Immunity: The plan or design for the construction or improvement to a road or structure such as a bridge or culvert, if the plan or design is approved in advance of the construction or improvement by the governing body of the governmental entity or some other body or employee exercising discretionary authority to give such approval and if the plan or design was prepared in conformity with the generally recognized and prevailing standards in existence at the time such plan or design was prepared. This design immunity is a major reason why new construction is always designed to standards.

- Inspection Immunity: The failure to make an inspection, or making an inadequate or negligent inspection, of any property other than the property of the governmental entity, to determine whether the property complies with or violates any law or regulation or contains a hazard to public health or safety. For road departments this might mean we are not required to inspect trees off the right-of-way to see if the tree is sound and not likely to fall on a vehicle. We are not required to inspect dams upstream from the road to see if the dam might collapse and flood the road.

- Natural Condition Immunity: Snow or ice conditions or other temporary or natural conditions on any public way or other public place due to weather conditions, unless the condition is affirmatively caused by the negligent act of the governmental entity. In this... regard it is important to review policies for snow and ice control, if any, and follow those policies. Failure to follow your own policies could be considered negligence.

• Sign Malfunction or Removal Immunity: The malfunction, destruction or unauthorized removal of any traffic or road sign, signal or warning device unless it is not corrected by the governmental entity responsible within a reasonable time after actual or constructive notice of such malfunction, destruction or removal. Nothing herein shall give rise to liability arising from the act or omission of any governmental entity in placing or removing any of the above signs, signals or warning devices when such placement or removal is the result of a discretionary act of the governmental entity.

• Minimum Maintenance Road Immunity: The existence, in any condition, of a minimum maintenance road, after being properly so declared and signed as provided in K.S.A. 68-5,102, and amendments thereto.

Avoiding Claims.
In the search for someone to pay for damages and injuries, it is not uncommon for claims to be made against the township. Claims generally fall into two categories:
1) improper or removed signage; or
2) negligent design, maintenance or inspection of roads.
The most common crash locations are road-construction sites, intersections, and railroad crossings. With increased use of cell phones and texting, run-off-the-road crashes may become more common. While it is impossible to maintain a road system where there are no crashes, and thus no claims, there are ways to minimize the chance of the claims being successful. Lawsuits involving road defects are very time-consuming, and efforts to minimize crashes and avoid lawsuits will be time well spent.

• Signage and Liability: Take signing seriously. There are probably more rules on where and how to place signs than for any other road maintenance activity. So it makes sense that one of the most common claims is that of inadequate signing, or improper maintenance of signs. Signing on public roads is required to comply with the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices (MUTCD). Improper signing or improper maintenance is one of the easiest circumstances for the plaintiff to prove, so take signing seriously. Employees that work with signs should be trained in proper installation and maintenance of signs and sign posts.

• Follow Your Own Policies: If policies are adopted, you may have a duty to follow those policies, and failure to follow those policies may be negligence. For instance, if your township has a policy that brick mailboxes are not allowed, and you allow one to be constructed, the township may be negligent if someone hits the brick mailbox and gets hurt. From a tort liability perspective it is probably better to not have a policy, than to have a policy that is not followed.

• Minimum Maintenance Roads: Designating minimum maintenance roads is a protection from liability that should be utilized where possible. There is a standard procedure in K.S.A. 68-5,102 for declaring a minimum maintenance road and posting warning signs to advice the public. If you have a road that does not get regular maintenance and it looks like a minimum maintenance road, that designation should be considered.

• Construction Projects: New projects should be built to current standards to obtain design immunity. When you go to professional meetings, you will hear engineers talk a lot about standards, and design immunity is one of the reasons.
• Railroad Crossings: The collision of a train with a car or motor grader typically results in catastrophic injury to the occupants. In fact, the motorist is 11 times more likely to die in a collision involving a train than in other highway collisions. Consequently, local governments have considerable potential exposure in railroad crossing cases, which represent serious suits. Warning signs and pavement markings at the crossing are important. Report problems with the crossbucks, signals and crossing to the railroad when discovered.

Recommendations from KCAMP.
KCAMP (Kansas County Association Multi-Line Pool) is the liability insurance carrier for more than 60 Kansas counties. Below are their recommendations developed from property damage and liability claims experiences on county roads.
1) Downed signs need to be replaced immediately after notice is received that a sign is down.
2) Cover the loads on dump trucks, especially when they are hauling loose debris.
3) It would be a good risk management idea to place “Stay Back 75 Feet” signs on the back of our mowers and graders. KCAMP notes big losses with crashes that involve thrown debris within that 75 ft arc, and vehicles pulling into a grader’s blind spots.
4) Identify hazards in the right-of-way and report them to the supervisor for removal, i.e., farm equipment, fences, hay bales, etc.
5) Avoid operating graders on the wrong side of the road, especially in a hilly area or at a blind curve, without any kind of warning device placed on the road to warn drivers.
6) When grading at a railroad crossing, an operator is advised to turn off the radio, AC, and open the door to the cab so that he or she can hear a train.

Road Damage

Liability for Road Damage
Our roads are damaged by people driving on them as well as by contractors using the right-of-way and road as a work area. Kansas law (K.S.A. 8-1913) states that persons driving legally on our roads are not responsible for road damage, but if the damage is from an illegal action, the person is liable for road damage. People working on our right-of-way are, by common law, liable for damage they cause, whether they are working legally or illegally.

For those driving on our roads the most common illegal activities are:
1. Losing control, running off the road and hitting a guardrail or causing other damage.
2. Driving a dozer, ATV or any vehicle in the ditch area.
3. Driving track equipment on the road.
4. Pulling a truck down a mud road with a dozer.
5. Tearing up a mud road with 4-wheelers.

Reimbursement
Recovery for damages is based on the common law rule for damages: If someone damages township property, the township is entitled to compensation. The driver does not have to be ticketed; this is a civil action, not a criminal action. Persons using our roads as a work area are responsible for damage they cause. The most common damage is by utility contractors damaging the ditch and culverts, and unauthorized blading and excavation by landowners and energy companies. The normal procedure is to keep track of the cost of the repair and then send an invoice to the person responsible. If the person fails to pay, then legal action may be necessary.

Prevention.
Prevention or avoidance is better for everyone involved. While random acts of damage by landowners are difficult to anticipate and avoid, being proactive with utility contractors and energy companies will be helpful. It would be a good idea to make a site visit at the initiation of any work where there is potential for road damage. Talk with the site foreman and share contact information. Discuss possible illegal operations as well as your concern for damage to the road. Also discuss your expectations on restoration of the road. Remember that you are only interested in public safety and restoration of the right-of-way. During the work, stop by and check for road damage. If damage does occur, ask the contractor to fix it. If the township has to repair any damage to the road or right-of-way, you can be reimbursed. Take some pictures to document the damage. Just like damage from persons driving our roads, the normal procedure is to keep track of the cost of the repair and then send an invoice to the person responsible. If the person fails to pay, then legal action may be necessary.

Road Systems in Kansas

In Kansas there are three types of road systems for roads outside cities. Responsibility for maintaining township roads is based on the type of road system adopted by the county.

Non-county Unit Road System:
The Non-county Unit Road System is also called the County-Township system. In this system the County maintains the main roads, and the townships maintain the local roads. The county maintains all the bridges as well as those culverts with a waterway opening of 25 square feet or larger. Prior to 1917, the townships maintained all the roads, but since 1917 the Non-county Unit Road System is the road system unless the county has elected to use one of the other road systems. There are 35 counties in Kansas with this road system. Funding for the county roads is on a county-wide tax basis with all property in the county having the same mill levy for county roads and bridges. Townships are funded from a mill levy on property within the township, but townships do not collect property tax for property within a city.

County Unit Road System:
In the County Unit Road System the county is responsible for maintenance of all the public roads outside the cities. The townships have no road maintenance responsibilities. The County Unit Road System was authorized by state law in 1917, but it takes action by the county to take over the township roads. There are 67 counties in Kansas that have this road system. Funding for all the county roads is on a county-wide tax basis with all property in the county having the same mill levy for county roads and bridges. This results in a somewhat higher mill levy for city residents than the County-Township System as the city residents have to pay taxes for maintaining all the county roads, including the old township roads. This road system is authorized by KSA 68-515b.

General County Rural Highway System:
The General County Rural Highway System is similar to the County Unit Road System in that the county maintains all the public roads outside the cities, and the townships have no road maintenance responsibilities. In this system the county has to have two separate funds, one for the main county roads, and one fund for what were previously township roads. The General County Rural Highway System was authorized by state law in 1970. There are just three counties in Kansas with this road system. Funding for the county roads is on a county-wide tax basis with all property in the county having the same mill levy for county roads and bridges. Funding for former township roads are funded from a mill levy on property within the townships, but does not include property tax for property within a city. In this system city residents do not pay taxes for maintenance of the former township roads. The county has to keep track of expenses on their two-road systems, and must ensure that the correct amount is spent on county roads and township roads. This road system is authorized by KSA 68-591.

The last county that converted to a county unit road system was Coffey County in 1979. The Coffey County commission adopted a resolution to implement the county unit road system, and there was no protest petition. Osage County voters turned down a county unit petition in 2010. It appears that there is currently a reluctance to convert to a county unit system as this will increase the taxes for residents inside of cities.

Road Right-of-Way Issues

How Roads Were Opened
Rural roads were usually opened after local residents petitioned the county commission. The county commission appointed road viewers. The road viewers set a date and time to view the road, and notice was published in the paper and sent to adjacent land owners. At the designated time the road viewers and the county surveyor would view the area where the road was requested. The viewers made an opinion on whether the road would be of public utility and also determined the most practical route of the road. The county surveyor would stake the road location determined by the viewers. Adjacent land owners would submit claims for damages based on the location of the road, and the viewers would recommend the amount they thought was justified. The county surveyor made field notes of the road location and would later draw the location of the road in a road record book and perhaps place a copy in the road opening packet. The county commission would receive the report of the road viewers and order the road to be opened, or reject the petition. If the road was to be opened, the county would pay damages to the adjacent owners. The last action by the county commission in opening a road was to notify the township road overseer to open the road.

Road Easement and Uses
In Kansas the road right-of-way is an easement for a specific purpose, that of a public road. The terms road easement and road right-of-way mean the same thing. The road right-of-way is not county or township owned land. The adjacent land owner actually owns the land and has certain rights.

In legal terms the county holds the dominant estate and the adjacent land owner has the servient estate. In rural areas most deeds include a statement like “except the public road.” This exception is just calling out the road easement, and is not excepting the land under the road, so the land under the road easement always passes to the next adjacent land owner. This exception in the deed should not give the impression that the county owns the land. The land owner retains the mineral rights, and the county and township use and jurisdiction is limited to road purposes. For instance, the county or township cannot drill a water well or an oil well on the right-of-way.

Adjacent Land Owner Uses
Since the county only has an easement on the road, officials must keep this in mind when dealing with adjacent land owners. The adjacent owners have the right to use the land in a manner that does not conflict with the road easement, state law, or county regulations. For instance, an adjacent land owner can mow grass, bale hay, and cut and trim trees without permission from the county or township. The land owner cannot damage any county or township property, nor do anything that obstructs the right-of-way or causes a safety issue. The adjacent land owner must obtain written permission from the township prior to any alterations, excavation, or installation of items on the right-of-way as required by K.S.A. 68-545.
Farming Encroachment
KSA 68-545 makes it unlawful to obstruct any road ditch or plow any public highway without written permission from the county or township. The Kansas Supreme Court in 2000 related to a case out of Trego County (268 Kan. 432) agreed with the district court that farm crops on the right-of-way were not just an obstruction but a nuisance per se. Crops on the right-of-way may be removed during normal mowing operations, when interfering with maintenance operations, restricting sight distance, and for other road related reasons. Farmers may be financially liable for restoring ditches that were farmed shut.

Removing Obstructions
K.S.A. 68-115 states that the county on county roads and the township on township roads “shall keep the same in repair, and remove or cause to be removed all obstructions that may be found therein.” An obstruction does not have to block the road, almost anything that interferes with use of the road, could block sight distance, or cause damage if hit is an obstruction. Common obstructions are large bales, farm equipment, electric fences, and trees. Obstructions in the road, blocking sight lines at intersections, or otherwise an immediate threat to public safety should be removed at once. For obstructions that are not an immediate threat to traffic safety, the owner should be given an opportunity to remove his property and/or restore the road. In 1928 the Supreme Court of Kansas (126 Kan. 81) determined that a sign 20 by 14 inches, 6 feet above ground, extending 8 or 9 inches over the highway right-of-way line is an obstruction that can be removed by the county, and were of the opinion the board of county commissioners has the right to remove any and all obstructions from the public highway. This authority is available to the township on township roads.
KCAMP Recommendations for Removal of Obstructions

Risk Management Alert!

Right-Of-Way Wrongs

One of the many duties of Kansas municipalities is to maintain the condition of the roads within their jurisdictions so they can be traveled safely by the public. Roads consist of several components, not just the area intended for travel. Shoulders, slopes, and ditches also must be kept in good repair to prevent traffic hazards and deterioration of the roadway.

The various components of a road are all contained within a right-of-way (ROW), which is a legal right to use someone else’s land. The land within the ROW actually belongs to the adjacent landowners, but it is unlawful for them to use it in a way that conflicts with the utilization and condition of the road (K.S.A. 68-543).

Landowners may not build, store, or grow anything in the ROW that creates a traffic hazard or leads to road deterioration. Unfortunately, not all landowners are aware of the limitation, yet municipalities must enforce it for the greater good of the traveling public.

Storing hay bales, vehicles, heavy equipment, or other property in the ROW creates a traffic hazard by obstructing motorists’ line of sight. Traffic hazards also are created by obstacles in the ROW that can cause serious injury if struck by a vehicle that accidentally leaves the roadway. Mature trees are an example, as are ornamental masonry mailbox enclosures. Mailboxes must be located in the ROW for access by the postal service, but while a simple post will yield when struck, a more solid structure increases the chance of serious injury to the driver.

Another traffic hazard — road flooding — also can result from ROW obstructions. When ditches are blocked, they cannot serve their purpose by adequately drawing precipitation away from the road. The most common misuse of ROW that affects drainage is farming. When fields encroach the road, the flow of water is obstructed by the crops themselves, and repeated plowing, planting and harvesting also fills up the ditch. Further, during cycles when the land is bare, wind erosion allows soil to blow into the ditch, perpetuating the problem. Worse, prolonged flooding can eventually damage neighboring properties.

As part of their road maintenance responsibilities, municipalities must manage the risks associated with landowners’ unlawful use of ROW. See the box at right for suggestions.

Manage ROW risks:

- Know the law. Under K.S.A. 8-2011, landowners have a duty to remove from their property any obstruction that creates a traffic hazard. K.S.A. 68-111 requires municipalities to maintain roads, remove obstructions, and keep ditches open. Obstructing the ROW is a violation of K.S.A. 68-543, which imposes fines and costs to restore it.
- Communicate. When observing vehicles, equipment, hay bales, construction materials, or any other obstruction in the ROW, send a written demand to landowners to remove the property. Cite appropriate statutes, including penalties for violations.
- Be consistent. If you have a policy to manage roadside vegetation (e.g., you mow one pass or spray 10 feet from the shoulder), do not skimp crops, as it sends the message that farming the ROW is acceptable. On the contrary, if you do not have such a policy, do not initiate one without first notifying landowners.
- Ask first. Anything of value belongs to landowners, so notify them before removing items such as trees or shrubs, which they might want to transplant or salvage.
- Address violations in progress. If you observe a fence, sign, masonry mailbox, or other structure being installed in the ROW, seek out the landowner to explain the restrictions and halt construction.
- Conduct a study. For long-standing structures in the ROW, initiate an engineering and traffic investigation per K.S.A. 8-2011, to confirm a hazard exists before demanding its removal.

Items of Commercial Value
A road easement does not give the county or township authority to allow private parties permission to take items that have commercial value from the right-of-way. The most common items are firewood, ledge rock, hedge posts, wildflowers, and dirt. The county can give their permission to remove those items, but the private party must then contact the land owner to obtain final approval.

Many times when we clean a ditch we have excess dirt for disposal. Once dirt washes or blows onto the right-of-way that dirt is a waste product we need to get rid of as cheaply as possible. We can certainly use the dirt to build up a road or fill in a wash in a road ditch. Sometimes the dirt isn’t suitable for road use and we dispose of it off site and dump the dirt on a neighbor’s property. A landowner may object to this as it appears that you are giving his dirt to someone else. There is no legal requirement that we go to extra expense to dispose of dirt on the adjacent land owner’s property. If the land owner wants “his” dirt back, it is cheaper to roll the dirt back into the field or leave it piled at the back of the ditch, but we do not have to haul it to where he wants it piled.

Trees & Brush
Trees and brush are a constant maintenance issue in eastern Kansas. In run-off the road accidents over 30% of the fatalities are due to collision with a tree, so trees are a hazard to traffic and can be removed by the county. Since trees and brush need to be removed for safety there is no doubt the county has authority to do this kind of work at any time if it is necessary for safety or maintenance reasons. If there are trees on the right-of-way that have commercial value it seems the land owner should be given an opportunity to harvest the wood before the county removes the tree. Trees on the right of way line should not be removed or killed without permission from the land owner. These trees are partially off the right-of-way so are under joint jurisdiction of the county and the adjacent land owner, and it would be impossible to remove a tree without getting off of the public right-of-way. An exception for trees on the right-of-way line is provided by KSA 19-2612 for trees and hedges within 350 feet of an abrupt turn in the road or a railroad crossing. This statute allows the county commission to cut or remove trees or hedges to provide clear vision.

Moving Roads and Surveys
If you have been in county or township work very long you have been asked to move a road to the correct location. The facts are usually the same; the requestor had his property surveyed and the surveyor found that the road was in the “wrong” location. The road always needs to be moved farther away from the person requesting the work.

The first impression is that a road should be in the right place, and putting the road in the right place is just the right thing to do. But then you start thinking about how this would be done. If you move the road over you make one owner happy, but what about the guy that you are going to be taking land from, and does he have a shotgun? This situation came up a long time ago and was settled by the Kansas Supreme Court in 1886, and the court said that not only do you not have to move the road, you cannot move the road. A township was doing road work and wanted to put the road in the correct location as shown on the county surveyor’s field notes and plat. The court ruled the road location was established by the original survey and opening, and the county surveyor’s field notes and plat must yield to the actual location where the road was opened. The court did not allow the township to move the road.

Roads do not move much. Certainly paved roads can’t move, but gravel and dirt roads could theoretically change locations based on maintenance practices. However, there are all kinds of restraints keeping roads from moving: culverts, bridges, fences, intersections, as well as the watchful eyes of adjacent land owners. Despite these safeguards, there will still be occasions when a surveyor—now 130 years after the road was surveyed and damages paid accordingly—will declare the road or the right-of-way fence is in the wrong place.

There are many reasons that a modern surveyor won’t come to the same answer as the original surveyor. A monument may have been lost and reset in a slightly different location, modern equipment may provide a more accurate measurement, or there may have been some errors in the original survey and notes. But the point is there is a difference in the surveys, the road did not move. If there is a situation where the road has moved, there probably is an obligation to move the road to the proper location. An example of this might be where a farmer kept farming closer to the road, or perhaps a hedge had not been trimmed so the road moved away from the hedge row. A survey is a professional opinion of a location of a boundary and is not conclusive. Also a survey does not determine title (ownership).

Opening roads that have not been travelled
In all areas of the state there are a few roads that have fallen into disuse, and are no longer travelled. Trees may have grown up in the right-of-way and blocked the road, culverts may have washed out, ruts may have enlarged to gullies, and so generally the road cannot be traveled with normal vehicles. Usually these were roads that were difficult to maintain anyway, and when a farmstead was abandoned, if the farmers had alternate access, the township just let the road return to nature. The road is still officially on the books as the road easement has not been vacated.

If a road hasn’t been used in decades and a landowner requests that the county or township open the road, there is then a question about the county or township’s responsibility to respond. Usually, everyone has access to their property, so opening the road is probably a convenience, not a necessity. One circumstance, however, where the road could become a necessity is if there was a landlocked tract that existed before the road became untraveled. If the landlocked tract was being farmed by an adjacent owner who used his property for access to the landlocked tract and the renter gave up farming the landlocked tract, a new renter may not have access. But in most situations opening the road is really a convenience and only benefits an adjacent owner. KSA 68-115 provides that on an unopened township road, the adjacent land owner that wants the road opened is required to improve the road to township standards.
Minimum-Maintenance Roads
Almost all counties and townships are struggling to maintain their roads properly. There are limited funds available, so we have to set priorities. Rightfully the higher priorities need to be the roads that have higher traffic volumes. But what results is the lower-traffic roads get less attention and they begin to deteriorate. Grass starts growing in the road, ditches fill with silt, culverts may plug up or wash out, and in eastern Kansas the trees start crowding the road. What used to be a road starts looking more like a field road or a trail. These are not the type of roads that an unfamiliar or inattentive driver should travel. It would be nice to vacate the road, but in most cases the road cannot be vacated as it provides access to farm fields. We can’t afford to keep the road in condition for travel by the general public in all weather conditions. This scenario has been going on for at least 30 years, maybe longer. With the high cost of road maintenance and the static or shrinking tax base, the trend is for more rapid deterioration of our less travelled roads.

The state legislature considered this issue in 1981 and allowed for the declaration of minimum-maintenance roads for roads that are used only occasionally or are used by only a few individuals. If the county commission declares the road a minimum-maintenance road and installs a specified warning sign then there is an exemption for the county and/or township under the tort claims act. So the minimum-maintenance road designation allows us to leave a road open, at a lower-grade condition, and not be as concerned about the liability issues.

The process of declaring a minimum-maintenance road is not complicated.
1) The county commission determines which roads should be minimum-maintenance roads. It then adopts a resolution describing the roads and transmits the resolution to the county planning commission.
2) Notice of a public hearing is published once in the official county newspaper.
3) After the public hearing the county commission decides which of the designated roads should be declared minimum maintenance.
4) Not later than 10 days after the declaration a warning sign is installed that says “Minimum-Maintenance Road Travel at Your Own Risk.”

A person might wonder what roads should be declared minimum maintenance. To my knowledge there is no legal definition of a minimum-maintenance road except what is referred to in the enabling law: “used only occasionally or is used only by a few individuals.” A minimum-maintenance road is not adequate for uses that require daily access such as a school bus route, mail route, or for a home or business. In most instances the purpose of the minimum-maintenance road is to provide seasonal agricultural access.

The question routinely arises concerning adequate maintenance of a minimum-maintenance road. The answer is not in the law, and has not been tested in court. I am sure that “minimum maintenance” does not mean a no-maintenance road. A warning sign is not a barricade and it is reasonable to assume the road is passable in dry weather, but may be impassable during periods of snow and wet weather. The road should be reasonably safe to travel during dry weather by an alert driver.
Traffic Signs

MUTCD
KSA 8-2003 requires the Kansas Secretary of Transportation to adopt a signing manual. When adopted the signing manual applies to all public roads in Kansas including city streets, county roads, and township roads. On December 16, 2011 the Secretary of Transportation adopted the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices 2009 Edition (2009 MUTCD), prior to December 16 the 2003 MUTCD was the adopted signing manual. So at this time the 2009 MUTCD is the signing standard for public roads and all road agencies should immediately start complying with this standard. The MUTCD can viewed or downloaded from MUTCD website at: http://mutcd.fhwa.dot.gov/index.htm. To obtain a paper copy the downloaded version may be printed and inserted in a binder. A paper version can be purchased from Amazon, or agencies listed on the MUTCD website.

Signing Low-Volume Rural Roads
The 2017 Kansas Handbook of Traffic Control Guidance for Low-Volume Rural Roads provides practical signing guidance for roads with less than 400 vehicles per day. The handbook is available in printed or electronic version from Kansas LTAP: The handbook is intended to be in compliance with the MUTCD if used on low-volume rural roads.

County/Township Signing Responsibilities
K.S.A. 8-2005 assigns responsibility for signing on township roads. Counties shall maintain and place on township roads signs related to county culverts and county bridges, and construction signage related to county projects on township roads. Township boards shall place and maintain traffic-control signage on township roads, except those signs that are the responsibility of the counties as described above. The county will maintenance following signs related to county culverts and bridges:

- advance warning signs (narrow and one lane bridge)
- weight limit signs
- object markers

The county may also maintain the street name signs. Township official should notify the road department if a county sign is down or damaged.

Regulatory Signing

[Image of regulatory signs]

Regulatory signs are generally the STOP, YIELD, and speed-limit signs. Townships are not authorized to establish regulatory signing, and the county commission must pass a resolution authorizing regulatory signs. Contact the County Engineer or Road Supervisor if the township board feels a regulatory sign is needed.

Sign Assessment System – Retroreflectivity

The MUTCD does require each agency to have a sign-assessment system so that their signs meet minimum reflectivity levels. The compliance date for a sign-assessment system is May 2014. There are a number of assessment systems that could apply to small governments like townships:

1. Annual night-time inspection by a trained observer.
2. Replacement of individual signs based on estimated sign life or retro-reflectivity measurements.
3. Blanket replacement of all signs in an area based on estimated sign life.

The sign assessment system needs to be written, and documentation that the system is being maintained needs to be preserved for a number of years. A signing inventory is not a requirement, but an inventory will allow better management and may reduce long term costs. A simple sign assessment system and forms are available at the Resources section of the Kansas County Highway Association website.

Signing Duty to the Public

There is no penalty or fine for failure to comply with the MUTCD. However, as a public agency we have a duty to maintain signs in accordance with the MUTCD. If we fail to perform this duty, and someone gets hurt, this standard is enforced through tort liability. If the injured person’s attorney shows that the township’s failure to comply with the MUTCD was a contributing factor that caused the accident, then the township may have to pay damages.

Utilities

Public Utility Authorization to use the Right-of-way
State law authorizes public utilities to use road right-of-way, without permission of the adjacent land owner. The specific laws are as follows:

- Electric cooperatives: KSA 17-4601 et seq
- Phone: KSA 17-1901 et seq
- Wind power: KSA 17-4654 et seq
- Sewage: KSA 16-623 – 4
- Other public utilities: Mall v. C.&W. Rural Elec. Coop. 213 P.2d 993

The statute wording is nearly uniform and allows the utilities to: construct, maintain and operate lines along, upon, under, and across publicly-owned lands and public thoroughfares, roads, highways, streets, alleys, bridges, and causeways in conformity with the laws of the state of Kansas. Court cases have further stated utilities cannot obstruct or hinder the usual travel, adversely affect public safety, or obstruct the legal use by other utilities.

Permitting
State law also provides that local agencies may establish rules and regulations governing the use of public right-of-way as long as the rules are competitively neutral and are not unreasonable or discriminatory. One of the laws that applies to utilities or any other person is KSA 68-545, which requires permission to dig in the road right-of-way.

Damages
The common law rule for damages is that when someone damages your property you are entitled to compensation. This would apply to utility companies that are working on the right-of-way, except when they are legally driving on the road. Most utility work is done by contract and most contracts have a clause that the contractor has to restore the work area. Contractors working for utility companies will have liability insurance and may be bonded. First contact for damage repair should be the contractor to inquire when they will repair the damage. It is best to stress that you are only interested in public safety and restoration of the right-of-way. Most contractors do not want you to contact their insurance company or their bonding company, but that is your right if they do not respond. If the contractor fails to respond, then contact the owner to see if the contractor has a restoration clause, performance bond, and insurance. If the contractor fails to restore the right-of-way, then it may be necessary to perform the work and send the contractor an invoice for damages.

Private Utilities
On occasion, private companies or individuals request permission to install a pipeline on right-of-way. Common examples include crude oil lines between an oil well and a tank battery, an irrigation pipe, and a pipe carrying animal waste from a feed lot to a lagoon.
Counties are accustomed to granting permission for public utilities to install lines on right-of-way. Requests from a private company may not seem much different from public utilities, but there are many significant differences.

The county and township only have a road easement. The state legislature and court cases have given certain public utilities authority to use the road easement. These statutes and court cases do not apply to private lines, and most agencies do not believe counties or townships have the power to authorize the installation of private lines in the right-of-way. If a private company needs to cross the road, they must obtain permission to install the line from the adjoining land owners, so there are no property-owner issues with the authority to grant the permit. Where pipelines cross the road they should be clearly marked, as few private companies are members of One-Call.

Drainage
Note: Surface water drainage is a complicated matter. A small change in the drainage pattern can cause major damage to an adjacent property. There is no agency that oversees or has control over surface water. Drainage issues are civil, not criminal, matters and must be resolved between the affected landowners. The township has a lot of neighbors, and drainage issues are numerous and ongoing. Hopefully the township can resolve most drainage issues by working with the land owner. A word of advice: Be careful if you change the natural drainage pattern, that can cause a lot of unforeseen issues. The information provided herein is general in nature, do not hesitate to contact an attorney for legal advice and help.

General
There is an old saying that “the only thing you need to know about drainage is that water runs downhill.” Water certainly runs downhill, but the rest of the saying is incorrect. For road work drainage is one of the more complicated issues facing road-maintenance workers. Drainage is certainly a bigger issue in eastern Kansas than western Kansas. The Kansas Geological Survey has published a map that shows the mean annual runoff. The map shows 0.1 inches of runoff in western Kansas and gradually increases to 10 inches of runoff in eastern Kansas. So eastern Kansas has 100 times the surface water runoff as western Kansas.
In western Kansas, the road ditch is less for drainage and more for obtaining dirt to build up the road above the surrounding ground so the snow will blow off. In eastern Kansas the road ditch is definitely needed to provide drainage for the road.

Common Law
This may seem strange to those in western Kansas, but historically surface water has been seen as a common enemy of landowners. The common law relating to drainage was developed in merry ol’ England and eastern states where surface water causes problems. The common law that developed allowed landowners to protect their property from surface water. That is, the “landowner has the right to use and improve his own land for the purpose for which similar land is ordinarily used; and may build upon it, or raise or lower its surface, even though the effect may be to shed surface water over land upon which it would not otherwise go.” Liston v. Scott, 108 Kan. 180, 194 P. 642 (1921). There is another common law that landowners should not manage their property in a manner that harms others, and certainly changing the natural drainage can harm others.

Diverting Drainage in Agricultural Areas
The major drainage issues that road department have to deal with is a land owner diverting natural drainage:

- Running terraces to a road ditch
- Grass waterway not discharging at crossroad culvert.

The road ditch is usually not able to handle the increase flow of water and water washes onto road and/or the ditch erodes. In 2013 a statute (KSA 24-105) was repealed that made it unlawful to change the natural drainage in agricultural areas. Since that time the legal issues involved in changing drainage in agricultural areas is in doubt. The common enemy principle does allow the township to protect itself. The township could plug the diversion soon after constructed or demand the land owner remove the diversion. While legal action to force the land owner to remove the diversion may be successful, it is time consuming and expensive. It might be appropriate to work with the land owner to share the cost of increasing the capacity of the ditch and repair the erosion. A combination ditch and waterway is sometimes a good solution.
Blocking Ditches & Drains
Kansas law also prohibits blocking a ditch or natural-drainage course in KSA 24-206: “If any person shall maliciously or willfully fill up or obstruct any ditch, drain, or watercourse, he shall forfeit and pay to the county... the sum of ten dollars...and shall moreover be liable for all damages that may accrue to any person or persons by such act or acts.”

Opening Drains
KSA 68-115 authorizes the township trustee to open drains downstream from the road. This statute would apply to natural siltation as well as a situation where the land owner blocked the drain. The township should ask permission first, but if permission is denied and the situation is serious enough the township can open the drain without land owner permission. The township will be responsible for any damages, so take pictures documenting the before and after conditions.

Backwater from culvert
Backwater from culverts has been addressed by the courts a number of times and in 1919 in Scott v Glenwood Tp, the court stated:

It is true, as plaintiff contends, that an insufficient culvert which throws the water back upon the land of an abutting owner, substantially damaging him, constitutes a nuisance, which may be abated by judicial action (Murphy v. Fairmount Township, 89 Kan. 760, 133 Pac. 169). To be entitled to an injunction it was necessary for the plaintiff to establish that the culvert caused substantial injury to her property.

So it is fairly well established that backwater from a culvert is permissible if it does not result in substantial damage, but be careful when replacing culverts or bridges with smaller structures.

Controlling Floodwater
It seems that people who own land that floods usually ask the city or county to do something about it. Well the courts have considered this matter, and local government is not required to solve everyone’s flooding problem. The general rule in Kansas is set in Baldwin v. City of Overland Park, 205 Kan. 1, 468 P.2d 168 (1970):

Kansas law generally recognizes no action against governmental entities for failure to control surface waters or for any increased or accelerated flow caused by lawful improvement, especially where it is demonstrated that the public improvement caused no greater amount of damage to adjoining landowners than would have been caused without the improvement. A city has no duty to provide drainage to take care of surface waters, and ordinarily its failure to protect citizens from surface water is not actionable.

The Baldwin Court also referenced Corpus Juris Secundum, a legal encyclopedia, which expounded that, “In the control and disposition of surface waters, municipal corporations ordinarily have the same rights and are subject to the same liabilities as private persons. In the absence of statute or charter providing otherwise, they are under no obligation to prevent the natural flow of surface waters or to protect private property from damage therefrom, and they are not liable for any damage caused thereby.” Baldwin, 205 Kan. at 7 (citing 63 C.J.S. Municipal Corporations s 883, 275).

Increase in flow
Cities can develop and pave to increase the flow of water downstream, if in accordance with the principle of common law found in Williamson v. City of Hays, 275 Kan. 300, 64 P.3d 364 (2003):

As a general rule, a municipal corporation is not liable for damage caused by the increased or accelerated flow of surface waters which have not been diverted from their natural course, or by the incidental change or interruption in, the discharge of, or the increased or accelerated flow of surface waters caused by the lawful improvement of its streets or the making of other public improvements.

If the law were otherwise it would certainly be difficult for cities to expand.

Drainage Summary
To summarize, in agricultural areas we should refrain from changing the course, current, or content of surface water as it leaves our property. However, in cities and areas of development, the common law is more lenient and allows some increase in velocity and volume of surface water.

Training

Need for Training
As a township official it is easy to become isolated and unaware of new technology, regulations, and requirements. Election as a township official does not make a person an expert in road maintenance or the legal requirements relating to operation of a township. Training and information is available at little or no cost.

Kansas LTAP
Kansas Local Technical Assistance Program (LTAP) is one of 58 centers across the United States that promotes the national LTAP mission of fostering a safe, efficient, and environmentally-sound transportation systems by improving skills and knowledge of local transportation. Kansas LTAP provides training, technical assistance, and technology transfer. It also provides services to local public works agencies and their employees throughout Kansas. In operation since 1983, Kansas LTAP offers a variety of services, including newsletters, video and publication lending library, training, and technical assistance. The Kansas LTAP receives funding from the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) and the Kansas Department of Transportation (KDOT).

The Kansas LTAP website describes the services in more detail: The website includes a lending library, description of upcoming classes, past newsletters, and contact information for the LTAP staff. Each township can receive a quarterly newsletter, and notice of upcoming classes, just sign up on the LTAP website.
LTAP one-day classes that are particularly applicable to townships include the following:
- Gravel road maintenance
- Public Works 1 & 2
- New Supervisors (2 day)
- Basic Surveying
- Estimating quantities
- Culverts & Drainage

Kansas Association of Counties (KAC)
Another training option is available through the Kansas Association of Counties. The KAC education programs are geared towards management and budget. The education program is described in detail on the KAC website at: http://www.kansascounties.org.

AG Opinion 2017-1 Powers of Township

Synopsis: A township lacks authority to enact local laws or undertake any action not specifically authorized by statute or the state constitution. Lacking such authority, a township may not adopt a uniform code by reference, nor do the provisions in K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. for the adoption of such codes apply to townships. Cited herein: K.S.A. 12-101; 12-3301; 12-3303; K.S.A. 2016 Supp. 19-101a; 80-101; 80-301; 80-401; 80-501; Kan. Const., Art. 5 § 12.

Dear Mr. Redding, Mr. Goehring, Mr. Rothwell, and Ms. McKee:
On behalf of the Board of Directors of Blue Township, and the Board of County Commissioners of Pottawatomie County, Kansas, each of you has requested an opinion regarding the authority of townships. Blue Township is located in the southwest corner of Pottawatomie County, bordering the City of Manhattan and Riley County. Your question is whether the township board has authority to adopt uniform building, electrical, and plumbing codes. If such authority exists, you also inquire about the applicability of the adoption by reference procedure for cities and counties outlined in K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. In response to your questions and as explained below, we conclude that as a quasi-municipal corporation, a township may exercise only the authority granted to it by the legislature or the state constitution. Townships are granted limited authority regarding specific local matters, none of which includes the authority to create or adopt laws. As such, townships do not possess the authority to adopt building codes.

Township Authority
It is first necessary to examine what authority townships hold in order to answer your questions. Generally, townships are not considered municipal corporations. “If deemed to be corporations of any kind . . . they are generally quasi-municipal corporations…as specifically provided for by a statute of the state or a provision of the state constitution.” The Kansas Legislature chose to empower townships through statute in K.S.A. 2016 Supp. 80-101: Each organized township in this state shall be a body politic and corporate, and in its proper name sue and be sued, and may appoint all necessary agents and attorneys in that behalf, purchase and hold real and personal property for the use of the township, sell, convey and dispose of real and personal property owned by the township, and may make all contracts that may be necessary and convenient for the exercise of its corporate powers.

The legislature also outlined the duties of a township trustee in K.S.A. 80-301 by limiting the trustee to looking after township roads and the taxing mechanisms necessary for the upkeep of such roads. K.S.A. 80-401 and K.S.A. 80-501 respectively, also outline the narrowly defined duties of the township treasurer and clerk regarding finances and the maintenance of the records necessary to the operation of the township. In addition to roads, townships are also given the authority to raise funds for the operation of parks, libraries, fire protection, water supply and other useful public services. None of these statutes expand the township’s power to encompass the adoption of new laws; rather, they are focused on enforcement or application of laws put in place by other bodies.

By comparison, the grant of authority to enact local laws given to cities and counties is clear. In K.S.A. 12-101, the home rule of cities, as provided for in Article 12, § 5 of the Kansas Constitution, is codified by empowering “cities to determine their local affairs and government by ordinance.” K.S.A. 2016 Supp. 19-101a grants the board of county commissioners the authority to “transact all county business and perform all powers of local legislation and administration it deems appropriate.” Townships possess no such broad grants of authority by statute or the state constitution.

Adoption of Codes by Reference
In your request, you note that K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. do not specifically authorize a township to adopt a code by reference. Since no direct authorization for townships is provided, such authority would have to be inferred from elsewhere. However, the definitions section provides evidence that the legislature did not intend this authority to extend to townships. K.S.A. 12-3301(b) defines a municipality as “any county or local unit of government which is authorized to enact local laws under the state or constitution.” As discussed above, a township is not authorized to enact local laws and thus, a township does not meet the statutory definition of a municipality in K.S.A. 12-3301(b). Therefore, the procedures set forth for the adoption of codes by reference do not apply to townships. Further, K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. also specifically provide procedures for cities and counties in the adoption of codes by reference. In this way, the county has a mechanism to apply the proper codes to townships. K.S.A. 12-3303, which provides the procedure that should be followed by counties when making an adoption by reference, provides that a county may enact codes that apply differently based on geographic location within the county. For example, any “part of a code adopted pursuant . . . to this section may be made applicable, by resolution, either to all unincorporated portions of the county or to any area of the county outside of but within three (3) miles of the nearest point of the corporate limits of any city." This distinction indicates that the legislature has considered the need to regulate growth near expanding urban areas without unduly burdening less populated areas of a county.

A township lacks authority to enact local laws or undertake any action not specifically authorized by statute or the state constitution. Lacking such authority, a township may not adopt a uniform code, nor do the provisions in K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. for the adoption of such codes by reference apply to townships. When it comes to unincorporated areas of a county, the board of county commissioners is the authorized body to adopt such laws.

AG Opinion 88-138 Township Expenditures, Hiring an Attorney & Annexations

September 16, 1988

Re: Cities and Municipalities--Additions, Vacation, and Lot Frontage; Annexation by Cities--Conditions Which Permit Annexation; Ordinances; Actions Challenging Validity

Townships and Township Officers--General Provisions--Corporate Status; Powers

Synopsis: It is our opinion that a township may expend moneys from the proper township fund in order to hire an attorney for township purposes. Such purposes may include appearing on behalf of the township at a public hearing concerning proposed annexation pursuant to K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520. However, a township may not expend public moneys to hire an attorney merely for lobbying against an annexation on behalf of the township or representing the legal interests of private landowners. Mr. Donald Wayne Estes
Shawnee Township Trustee
4804 Quivira Drive
Shawnee Mission, Kansas 66216

Dear Mr. Estes:

As Shawnee Township Trustee you request our opinion on using township funds to hire an attorney to represent the township in proceedings connected with the proposed annexation of township property by the city of Shawnee. You inform us that the proposed annexation is proceeding pursuant to K.S.A. 12-520 et seq. and that if it is successful your township will be left with very little unincorporated area and no residents. You also inform us that the landowners of the township oppose the annexation and prefer to remain part of the township.
In general, a township is a territorial district, subordinate to a county, the inhabitants of which are vested with political and administrative powers for regulating their own local affairs. 1 McQuillan, Municipal Corporation, § 1.30 (1987). K.S.A. 80-101 et seq. sets forth the basic powers and duties of Kansas townships. The authority to appoint attorneys and make necessary contracts is discussed in K.S.A. 80-101 which states:
"Each organized township in this state shall be a body politic and corporate, and in its proper name sue and be sued, and may appoint all necessary agents and attorneys in that behalf, and may make all contracts that may be necessary and convenient for the exercise of its corporate powers."

Thus, a township has authority to hire an attorney in order to bring or defend a suit or when "necessary and convenient for the exercise of its corporate powers." The only restrictions upon expenditures made to hire an attorney are (1) any applicable budgetary laws and (2) whether it properly exercises a corporate power of the township.
K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 79-1962 establishes limitations upon the levy of taxes by a township. While this authority does not establish a specific fund for attorneys' fees, it does discuss a tax levy for the township general fund. K.S.A. 80-1422, which allows certain township officials to receive additional compensation from the general fund, evidences the propriety of paying employment compensation from the general fund. Moreover, use of general funds to pay the costs of certain township business appears to be a township corporate purpose.
K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 79-2934 limits expenditures from funds appropriated for another fund or purpose and K.S.A. 10-1101 et seq. limits the ability of municipalities to incur debt. The established budget of Shawnee township will determine the availability of funds for the proposed purpose of hiring an attorney. Assuming that the proper funds are available, it is our opinion that a township may hire an attorney in order to represent the township in matters within the scope of township purposes. See also 87 C.J.S., Towns, § 54 (1954), and Emporia Township v. Williams, 149 Kan. 860, 865 (1939).

The second issue becomes to what degree and in what capacity a township is authorized to protest a proposed annexation and if that involvement by the township can be characterized as a township corporate purpose sufficient to permit the employment of an attorney.
K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-519 et seq. discusses annexation of territory by cities. K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520a(d)(2) requires that a notice of the resolution considering annexation be sent to the governing body of the township where the land to be annexed is located.
K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520a(e) allows all interested persons to be heard at the public hearing concerning annexation. K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 77-201 Thirteenth states that in construction of the statutes of this state, "person" may be extended to mean bodies politic and corporate. A township is such a body, pursuant to K.S.A. 80-101, and may therefore be considered a person. Therefore, K.S.A.1987 Supp. 12-520a(c) allows and authorizes a township to speak at the public hearing. Thus, it is our opinion that hiring an attorney to appear at such a public hearing on behalf of the township is a permissible use of public moneys for an authorized corporate purpose.

We have been informed that the city of Shawnee is proceeding under K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520. Subsection (g) of that provision allows a protesting landowner "to maintain an action ... challenging the authority of the city to annex the land and the regularity of the proceedings...."
Previous Kansas case law discussed standing to challenge annexation. In Fairfax Drainage District v. City of Kansas City, 190 Kan. 308 (1968), the court did not permit a collateral challenge to the annexation proceedings to be brought in the name of the drainage district. Enacted after this case, K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520, statutorily authorized court challenges by any owner of land annexed by a city under authority of that section. It did not, however, extend legal standing to include other persons or entities.
After enactment of K.S.A. 12-520, the Kansas court again discussed standing to challenge annexation proceedings in City of Lenexa v. City of Olathe, 229 Kan. 391 (1981). The court differentiated between annexations proceeding pursuant to K.S.A. 12-520 and 12-521:
"Syl. ¶ 2: 'Under the statutes pertaining to the annexation of land by cities (K.S.A. 12-519 et seq.), where a dispute arises as to the annexation of land which adjoins a city the only interested parties to the controversy are the city and the owner of the land which has been proposed for annexation. Other incorporated cities in the county do not have standing to challenge a proposed annexation where the land adjoins the city and the owner of the land consents to the annexation.'
"Syl. ¶ 3: 'In cases of a proposed annexation of land not adjoining the city, the rights of another incorporated city in the county must be considered and it has an interest which entitled it to challenge such an annexation in the district court.'"
Subsequent amendments to K.S.A. 12-520(g) have not extended legal standing to challenge annexation procedures to entities other than the landowners. If the annexation in question is proceeding pursuant to K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520 and the land adjoins the city, the only interested parties to the controversy are the city of Shawnee and the individual landowners in the affected area. Thus, these are the only parties granted legal standing to challenge annexation proceedings.
There is a trend towards permitting municipal or quasi-municipal corporate parties to challenge governmental actions rather than only permitting individuals to challenge the validity of territorial annexation. McQuillin, Municipal Corporations, § 7.43 (1988).
K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-521 evidences such a trend in Kansas; where the proposed annexation of land affects land not adjoining the city, other cities may challenge the annexation. However, a township is not a city. Moreover, the proposed annexation purportedly affects land adjoining the city and the annexation is therefore proceeding pursuant to K.S.A. 12-520 not 12-521. Thus, Shawnee township apparently does not have standing to bring an action challenging the annexation proceedings.
If the township does not have legal standing to challenge annexation proceedings, the other purposes for hiring an attorney include lobbying for a particular annexation decision or representing the legal interests of the affected landowners. As previously recognized, K.S.A. 80-101 allows the township to exercise corporate powers. It therefore becomes necessary to determine whether such corporate powers include the power to lobby against annexation or to fund the legal representation of private landowners who are protesting annexation.
Previous Attorney General opinions discuss the authority to approve expenditures of public funds for lobbying. As discussed in Opinions No. 81-216 and 83-52, such authority must exist either as expressly conferred or necessarily implied powers. Pursuant to K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520a(e) a township is statutorily authorized to appear at the public hearing held on annexation. Beyond that, we find no authority allowing the
It is therefore our opinion that a township may not hire an attorney merely to lobby against a proposed annexation. Attorney General Opinion No. 86-177 discussed the authority of a watershed district to retain counsel in order to assist a private landowner with legal costs incurred as a result of litigation that peripherally affected the district. While the opinion noted that the district could possibly benefit from the employment of such an attorney, we opined that such employment was impermissible.

"It is a fundamental rule of law that a lawyer cannot permit a person who pays him to render legal services for another to direct or regulate his professional judgment in rendering such legal services. K.S.A. 7-125, DR 5-107(B). Thus, even if the district pays an attorney to represent a landowner before the IRS, that attorney owes no duty to the district. Since the interests of the individual landowner and those of the district may not always be the same, and since any appropriation of public money must be for a public purpose, such an expenditure would be impermissible. See In re Page, 60 Kan. 842 (1899)." (Emphasis added.)

It is our opinion that the legal principles enunciated in Opinion No. 86-177 also prohibit the retainment of counsel by a township in order to represent individual landowners who are protesting annexation.

In summary, it is our opinion that a township may expend moneys from the proper township fund in order to hire an attorney for township purposes. Such purposes include costs connected with appearing on behalf of the township at proceedings where a township has legal authority or standing such as a public hearing concerning proposed annexation pursuant to K.S.A. 1987 Supp. 12-520. However, a township may not expend public moneys to hire an attorney in order to lobby against an annexation on behalf of the township or represent the legal interests of private landowners.

AG Opinion 97-62 CDL for Grader Operators

June 20, 1997

Re: Automobiles and Other Vehicles--Drivers' Licenses; Uniform Commercial Driver's License Act--Definitions; Road Grader Operator Required to Have a Commercial Driver's License

Dear Board Members:

You request our opinion regarding whether the Township's part time road grader operator is required to have a commercial driver's license (CDL). You state that while the grader has a gross weight of 33,000 pounds, it does not haul passengers or property and is not licensed or tagged by the State of Kansas. You believe that under these circumstances the grader is not a commercial motor vehicle as defined by federal law and therefore there is no requirement for obtaining a CDL to operate the grader.

K.S.A. 8-2, 132 provides that, with certain exceptions, no person may drive a commercial motor vehicle unless the person has a valid commercial driver's license. Commercial motor vehicle is defined as:

"[A] motor vehicle designed or used to transport passengers or property, if:
"(1) The vehicle has a gross vehicle weight rating of 26,001 or more pounds or such lesser rating, as determined by rules and regulations adopted by the secretary [of the Department of Revenue], but shall not be more restrictive than the federal regulation;
"(2) the vehicle is designed to transport 16 or more passengers, including the driver; or
"(3) the vehicle is transporting hazardous materials and is required to be placarded in accordance with 49 C.F.R. 172, subpart F, effective January 1, 1991;" K.S.A. 1996 Supp. 8-2,128(f).

A motor vehicle is "every vehicle which is self-propelled, ... but not operated upon rails, except vehicles moved solely by human power and motorized wheel chairs;" K.S.A. 1996 Supp. 8-2,128(r). These definitions track those found in the federal law regulating commercial motor vehicle operators. 49 U.S.C.A. § 31301(4), (11). See also 49 C.F.R. § 383.5.

While the terms in question have not been further defined by the State, the United States Department of Transportation, Federal Highway Administration (charged with administering the federal law regarding commercial motor vehicle operators, 49 U.S.C.A. § 31308) has issued interpretations describing the applicability of the federal motor carrier safety regulations to operators of construction equipment such as motor graders. Generally operators of off-road motorized construction equipment are not required to obtain a CDL even if the machinery is operated on a public highway for purposes of moving from one construction site to another. The basis for this conclusion is that such equipment is not designed to operate in traffic. However, when used for snow or leaf removal, the interpretations conclude that operators of such construction equipment are required to obtain a CDL because the equipment is being used on public roads and in furtherance of a transportation purpose, removal of snow or leaves from the road. The basis for the exception would no longer exist if the equipment is being used in traffic for transportation purposes. Regulatory Guidance Part 383--Commercial Driver's License Standards: Requirements and Penalties, Section 383.3--Applicability (Dec. 20, 1995).

Further, the Federal Highway Administration has opined that State vehicle registration has no bearing on who is required to obtain a CDL (Regulatory Guidance, Section 383.3) and, with regard to the definitional requirement that a vehicle transport "passengers or property" to be considered a commercial motor vehicle, that "the construction equipment is itself the property being transported as it performs a service such as snowplowing." Regulatory Guidance, Section 383.5--Definitions. These interpretations have not been rescinded or amended and thus appear to be the current view of the Federal Highway Administration. Thus, an operator of a road grader would be required to have a CDL if the grader is used on the public roads for transportation purposes. If the grader is used only for off-road construction purposes, no CDL would be required. The federal regulations do contain an exception for drivers employed by local units of government operating a commercial motor vehicle within the boundaries of that unit of government for the purpose of removing snow or ice, but only if the State exempts such individuals from the CDL requirements and only in certain emergency situations. 49 C.F.R. § 383.1(d)(3). The State of Kansas has not chosen to exempt such drivers. See K.S.A. 8-2,127.

In conclusion, because the State is obligated to comply with the federal law regarding operators of commercial motor vehicles (49 U.S.C.A. § 31308 and K.S.A. 8-2,126) and the Kansas Director of Motor Vehicles follows the Federal Highway Administration's guidelines in interpreting and enforcing the state CDL law, it is our opinion that the operator of a road grader used on the public roadways for transportation related purposes is required to obtain a CDL.

AG Opinion 2004-18 Township Board Compensation

June 29, 2004
Re: Roads and Bridges--County and Township Roads--Township Board of Highway Commissioners; Compensation

Synopsis: Township board members can be compensated for providing services to the township provided the services fall within the parameters of "township business" or are identified specifically in the statutes. However, while a township board may be authorized to appoint or employ one of its members to perform services for the township, its members must comply with all state governmental ethics laws. Cited herein: K.S.A. 68-525; K.S.A. 2003 Supp. 68-526; K.S.A. 68-530; 75-4301a, 75-4304; 75-4305; 80-202; 80-207; K.S.A. 2003 Supp. 80-208; K.S.A. 80-301; 80-302; 80-304; 80-401; 80-406; K.S.A. 2003 Supp. 80-410; K.S.A. 80-501; 80-1201; 80-1407; K.S.A. 2003 Supp. 80-1544; K.S.A. 80-2002.

Jan Satterfield
Butler County Attorney
201 W. Pine, Suite 104
Dear Ms. Satterfield:

You inquire whether township board members can receive compensation for services provided to the township. Specifically, you indicate that there are concerns about members providing mowing and general labor services on township roads and other township property. While former Attorney General Carla J. Stovall opined on this subject in 1995, the laws mentioned in that opinion have since been amended, and, therefore, its value is limited.

We also note that the propriety of a township board or board member's action will depend upon the specific facts of each situation, and, therefore, we offer this opinion only for general guidance.

The governing body of a township is comprised of a township trustee, clerk, and treasurer. These officers are entitled to "receive compensation for their services while actually and necessarily conducting township business." In the absence of a statutory definition of "township business," or an appellate court decision limiting its scope, the governing body has discretion in determining the parameters of "township business" for which its members will be compensated. Presumably, "township business" would include the statutory duties of a township board and its individual members.

K.S.A. 80-207 establishes the procedure for compensating township board members where the total amount of annual compensation per member exceeds $100:

"(c) The township board, by adoption of a resolution, may fix the amount of compensation to be received by members of the board. Such resolution shall be published at least once each week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation within the township. If the total amount of compensation to be received annually by each member of the board is $100 or less, such resolution shall not be required to be published and shall be effective upon adoption of the resolution. A resolution providing for an increase in compensation shall not be effective until 30 days following the date of the last publication of the resolution."

In addition to board members being compensated for "township business," there are a variety of statutes that authorize board members to perform specific compensated services for the township. The following is a brief list:

1. A township board, serving as a board of highway commissioners, "may employ one or more... [board] members to perform work and labor on the township roads... and bridges."

2. A township board may appoint one of its members to serve as the road overseer who is responsible for the "construction and maintenance of all township roads, bridges, and culverts, under the supervision of the township board and the county engineer."

3. A township board serves as an auditing board, which examines and audits all claims against the township for which the member can receive compensation for "attending to the township business."

4. Township board members can receive compensation for their services "in the supervision of the operation" of the township water system, as members of the governing body of a township fire district, and for services as members of the governing body of a township sewage district.
Clearly, township board members can be compensated for providing services to the township provided the services fall within the parameters of "township business" or are identified in the statutes. We also note that state law contemplates the employment of township officers by virtue of K.S.A. 2003 Supp. 80-208 which provides, as follows: "A township officer who also is an employee of the township shall abstain from voting for or participating in any motion of the township board to increase the compensation, salary, or benefits to be paid to such person as an employee of the township."

However, while a township board may be authorized to appoint or employ one of its members to perform services for the township, its members must comply with all state governmental ethics laws, including K.S.A. 75-4304 and 75-4305. K.S.A. 75-4304 prohibits a local governmental officer or employee from making or participating in a contract in which the officer or employee has a "substantial interest." K.S.A. 75-4305 requires a local governmental officer or employee to file a statement of substantial interests with the county election officer before "acting upon any matter which will affect any business in which the officer or employee has a substantial interest." Therefore, depending upon the facts, the member being considered for appointment or employment should avoid participating, as a board member, in the making of any contract for that purpose, and abstain from taking any action in regard to the matter.

You also query whether a board member can take "unilateral action" to perform a compensated service. This issue was addressed in Attorney General Opinion No. 81-141, which concluded that where a statute requires action by a township board, such action can be taken only by the board - not individual members. Moreover, to the extent there is conflicting statutory language dealing with duties delegated to a township officer and also to the township board, the more recent statute controls. The better practice may be for the township board to take formal action appointing the individual to perform the service and establishing the compensation.

Finally, you inquire regarding the legal propriety of a township board member hiring a relative to perform compensated services for the township. There are no statutes prohibiting nepotism in this instance. As indicated previously, however, the better practice may be for the township board to appoint or employ individuals to perform services for the township.

Additionally, the governmental ethics laws should be consulted in determining whether a township board member is precluded from participating in a contract, as a board member, or acting on any matter involving the board member or the board member's relatives.

Sincerely,

Phill Kline

AG Opinion 2017-1 Township Powers & Codes

Synopsis: A township lacks authority to enact local laws or undertake any action not specifically authorized by statute or the state constitution. Lacking such authority, a township may not adopt a uniform code by reference, nor do the provisions in K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. for the adoption of such codes apply to townships. Cited herein: K.S.A. 12-101; 12-3301; 12-3303; K.S.A. 2016 Supp. 19-101a; 80-101; 80-301; 80-401; 80-501; Kan. Const., Art. 5 § 12.

Dear Mr. Redding, Mr. Goehring, Mr. Rothwell, and Ms. McKee:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Blue Township, and the Board of County Commissioners of Pottawatomie County, Kansas, each of you has requested an opinion regarding the authority of townships. Blue Township is located in the southwest corner of Pottawatomie County, bordering the City of Manhattan and Riley County. Your question is whether the township board has authority to adopt uniform building, electrical, and plumbing codes. If such authority exists, you also inquire about the applicability of the adoption by reference procedure for cities and counties outlined in K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. In response to your questions and as explained below, we conclude that as a quasi-municipal corporation, a township may exercise only the authority granted to it by the legislature or the state constitution. Townships are granted limited authority regarding specific local matters, none of which includes the authority to create or adopt laws. As such, townships do not possess the authority to adopt building codes.

Township Authority

It is first necessary to examine what authority townships hold in order to answer your questions. Generally, townships are not considered municipal corporations. “If deemed to be corporations of any kind . . . they are generally quasi-municipal corporations . . . as specifically provided for by a statute of the state or a provision of the state constitution.” The Kansas Legislature chose to empower townships through statute in K.S.A. 2016 Supp. 80-101: Each organized township in this state shall be a body politic and corporate, and in its proper name sue and be sued, and may appoint all necessary agents and attorneys in that behalf, purchase and hold real and personal property for the use of the township, sell, convey and dispose of real and personal property owned by the township, and may make all contracts that may be necessary and convenient for the exercise of its corporate powers.

The legislature also outlined the duties of a township trustee in K.S.A. 80-301 by limiting the trustee to looking after township roads and the taxing mechanisms necessary for the upkeep of such roads. K.S.A. 80-401 and K.S.A. 80-501 respectively, also outline the narrowly defined duties of the township treasurer and clerk regarding finances and the maintenance of the records necessary to the operation of the township. In addition to roads, townships are also given the authority to raise funds for the operation of parks, libraries, fire protection, water supply and other useful public services. None of these statutes expand the township’s power to encompass the adoption of new laws; rather, they are focused on enforcement or application of laws put in place by other bodies.
By comparison, the grant of authority to enact local laws given to cities and counties is clear. In K.S.A. 12-101, the home rule of cities, as provided for in Article 12, § 5 of the Kansas Constitution, is codified by empowering “cities to determine their local affairs and government by ordinance.” K.S.A. 2016 Supp. 19-101a grants the board of county commissioners the authority to “transact all county business and perform all powers of local legislation and administration it deems appropriate.” Townships possess no such broad grants of authority by statute or the state constitution.

Adoption of Codes by Reference

In your request, you note that K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. do not specifically authorize a township to adopt a code by reference. Since no direct authorization for townships is provided, such authority would have to be inferred from elsewhere. However, the definitions section provides evidence that the legislature did not intend this authority to extend to townships. K.S.A. 12-3301(b) defines a municipality as “any county or local unit of government which is authorized to enact local laws under the state law or constitution.” As discussed above, a township is not authorized to enact local laws and thus, a township does not meet the statutory definition of a municipality in K.S.A. 12-3301(b). Therefore, the procedures set forth for the adoption of codes by reference do not apply to townships. Further, K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. also specifically provide procedures for cities and counties in the adoption of codes by reference. In this way, the county has a mechanism to apply the proper codes to townships. K.S.A. 12-3303, which provides the procedure that should be followed by counties when making an adoption by reference, provides that a county may enact codes that apply differently based on geographic location within the county. For example, any “part of a code adopted pursuant . . . to this section may be made applicable, by resolution, either to all unincorporated portions of the county or to any area of the county outside of but within three (3) miles of the nearest point of the corporate limits of any city.” This distinction indicates that the legislature has considered the need to regulate growth near expanding urban areas without unduly burdening less populated areas of a county.

A township lacks authority to enact local laws or undertake any action not specifically authorized by statute or the state constitution. Lacking such authority, a township may not adopt a uniform code, nor do the provisions in K.S.A. 12-3301 et seq. for the adoption of such codes by reference apply to townships. When it comes to unincorporated areas of a county, the board of county commissioners is the authorized body to adopt such laws.

Sincerely,
Derek Schmidt

County authority to repair township roads. Marshall County v. Lincoln Township

266 Kan. 355, 970 P.2d 54

Supreme Court of Kansas.

County brought action against township to recover costs it expended to repair township road which was determined to be unsafe for public travel. The District Court, Marshall County, J.D. Euler, J., entered summary judgment in favor of county, awarding it $2,030.25. Township appealed. The Supreme Court, Lockett, J., held that: (1) county had discretion to order necessary repairs when township failed to maintain its roads in good condition for travel when weather was wet or road was muddy and was entitled to reimbursement for required repairs, and (2) township's failure to budget sufficient funds to meet cost of road repair did not prohibit county from ordering repairs. Affirmed. Abbott, J., filed a dissenting opinion, in which McFarland, C.J., and Davis, J., joined.

Repair of roads which are not safe for travel is a duty imposed by the State on townships for the purpose of "public safety," within meaning of extreme emergency need exception to prohibition against issuing no-fund warrants for purposes of Cash Basis Law. K.S.A. 10-1101 et seq., 79-5030, 79-5031.

Syllabus by the Court
1. Rules of summary judgment are discussed and applied.
2. When a statute is plain and unambiguous, the court must give effect to the intention of the legislature as expressed.
3. Under K.S.A. 68-124, the duty of a township is to keep its roads in "good condition for travel." Where the township neglects, refuses, or fails to comply with the statute's mandate, the board of county commissioners of the county in which the township is located may exercise its discretion to conduct road repairs and charge the township for the project.
4. Where a public official or board is vested with discretion, courts will not interfere to control that discretion in the absence of fraud, bad faith, or gross improvidence on the part of the official or board.
5. The fact that a township has failed to budget sufficient funds to meet the cost of road repair does not prohibit the board of county commissioners of the county in which the township is located from ordering township road repair or maintenance when the board finds the township road is not in good condition for travel. K.S.A. 68-124.
Edward F. Wiegers, of Galloway, Wiegers & Heeney, LLP, of Marysville, argued the cause and was on the brief for appellant.
Keith W. Sprouse, county counselor, argued the cause and was on the brief for appellee.

LOCKETT, J.:
County repaired a township road. Township refused to pay County. County filed suit against Township to recover its costs for the road repair. The district court found County had statutory authority to repair the road and assess the cost against Township, granted summary judgment to County, and entered judgment against Township for the amount of the repairs. Township appeals, claiming Board of County Commissioners had no statutory authority to repair or order Township to repair the township road.

On October 10, 1994, seven residents of Lincoln Township, who resided along or near a township road that lies between Lincoln Township and Nemaha County, met with the Board of County Commissioners of Marshall County (Marshall County) to express their concern regarding the safety of the township road. Marshall County contacted the county road supervisor, who opined that the road was not safe for the traveling public, particularly for the school bus and the U.S. mail carrier. Marshall County sent written notification to the Lincoln Township Board of Trustees, advising the trustees that if they did not repair the road within 2 weeks, Marshall County would proceed under K.S.A. 68-124 with reasonable repairs to the township road and charge the expenses to Lincoln Township.

On October 17, 1994, the Lincoln Township Board of Trustees met with Marshall County and informed the commissioners that Lincoln Township did not have sufficient funds to make the needed repairs on the road. Lincoln Township believed the road was in satisfactory condition for travel except when it was wet and muddy, and denied Marshall County's demand to repair the road.

On October 24, 1994, Marshall County delivered rock to the township road. Lincoln Township applied the rock to the road. Marshall County billed Lincoln Township $2,030.25 for the cost of the rock, labor, equipment, and material. The amount was due on or before March 10, 1995. Lincoln Township claimed it was without funds and refused to pay the amount due.

Marshall County filed an action in district court to recover the cost of the project. The district court granted summary judgment to Marshall County against Lincoln Township in the amount of $2,030.25. Lincoln Township appeals, claiming Marshall County had no authority under the circumstances to repair or to order the township to repair the township road.

The resolution of the question presented depends on statutory interpretation. Interpretation of a statute is a question of law, and this court's review is unlimited.

The district judge observed that the answer to the issue depends upon the interpretation of K.S.A. 68-124, which provides in part:
"Where under the laws of the state of Kansas ... any road or highway that is not a county road has been declared to be a public road or highway, it shall be the duty of the board of highway commissioners of the township in which such road is located to repair, place and keep in condition for travel such roads or highway. If such board of highway commissioners shall neglect, refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this act, the board of county commissioners of the county may repair and put in good condition for travel such road or highway, and shall charge the expenses therefor to the township in which such road is located."
The district judge noted that although the primary responsibility for the maintenance of township roads in counties that do not operate under the county unit system is placed with the township board, as provided by K.S.A. 68-526 and 68-124, there are certain situations where the board of county commissioners has the statutory authority to intervene. The provisions of K.S.A. 68-124 allow the board of county commissioners to intervene when the township board "shall neglect, refuse or fail" to place and keep the roads in good condition. The district judge observed that if the county commissioners determined the road is not in good condition for travel, the commissioners had statutory authority to put the township road in good condition and charge the expenses to the township.

The district judge noted there was a difference of opinion between Marshall County and Lincoln Township as to whether the road was safe for travel or whether repairs were necessary to put the road in good condition. Lincoln Township had concluded, based on the use of the road, history of maintenance of the road, funds available for repairs, and other factors, that the road, except when wet or muddy, was in good condition for travel. Marshall County, after considering the same factors, disagreed with Lincoln Township and concluded that the road was not safe for public travel and required repair to put it in safe condition for travel when wet or muddy.

The district court observed that Marshall County had relied upon Attorney General Opinion No. 87-22 in determining it had the authority to make repairs to the road and to charge the expenses to Lincoln Township. The Attorney General had issued the opinion on February 5, 1987, at the request of the Marshall County Counselor. Before discussing that opinion, the district judge acknowledged that opinions issued by the Attorney General's office, though not binding on the court, are persuasive. See Moore v. City of Lawrence, 232 Kan. 353, 362, 654 P.2d 445 (1982); Greenwood v. Estes, Savings & Loan Commissioner, 210 Kan. 655, 661, 504 P.2d 206 (1972).

In Opinion No. 87-22, the Attorney General relied upon Stock Farm Co. v. Pottawatomie County, 116 Kan. 315, 226 P. 781 (1924), and determined that Marshall County had authority under K.S.A. 68-124 to make repairs to a township road and to charge the township for the expenses incurred if the township board failed to make the necessary repairs to keep the road in good condition for travel. In Stock Farm Co. this court stated: "Where the township highway commissioners neglect to place and keep in condition a lawfully established township road, that duty may be lawfully performed by order of the board of county commissioners or the county engineer, and the expenses therefor charged against the township as provided in R.S. 68-124, 68-546." 116 Kan. 315, Syl. ¶ 5, 226 P.2d 206.

The district judge then noted that K.S.A. 68-124 contains no statement as to what repairs may be made or how the term "good condition for travel" is to be construed or applied. The district judge pointed out that the statute vests the board of county commissioners with the authority to determine whether the township board of highway commissioners has neglected, refused, or failed to repair and place the road in good condition. The district judge concluded that the repairs needed for the road to be in good condition for travel are left to the sound judgment and discretion of the board of county commissioners.

The district judge further noted that in Pratt v. Fall River Township Board, 155 Kan. 442, 445, 125 P.2d 357 (1942), the Kansas Supreme Court, in a mandamus action relating to the repair and maintenance of a township road, stated: "Where a public official or board is vested with discretion courts will not interfere to control that discretion in the absence of fraud, bad faith or gross impropriety on the part of the official. [Citations omitted.]

The judge then noted that Marshall County, after consideration of the use of the road as a farm-to-market road, mail route, and school bus route, had concluded the road was not always in good condition for travel and needed to be repaired. Marshall County had attempted to obtain the cooperation of Lincoln Township in making the necessary repairs. After Lincoln Township refused to make the necessary repairs, Marshall County, following K.S.A. 68-124, exercised its discretion and made the necessary repairs.

As it did in the district court, Lincoln Township argues on appeal that it did not fail to act; it specifically considered the condition of the road and elected not to repair a road that was safe for public travel except when it was wet or muddy. Lincoln Township asserts that Marshall County made a political decision to repair the road, rather than a decision based on safety considerations. By acting in such a manner, Lincoln Township contends Marshall County unlawfully usurped Lincoln Township's authority and repaired a road the township had determined to be in good condition for travel under normal weather conditions. Lincoln Township also alleges that the district court considered controverted facts regarding the condition of the road and improperly ruled on the motion for summary judgment.

Summary judgment is appropriate when the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. The trial court is required to resolve all facts and inferences which may reasonably be drawn from the evidence in favor of the party against whom the ruling is sought. When opposing a motion for summary judgment, an adverse party must come forward with evidence to establish a dispute as to a material fact. In order to preclude summary judgment, the facts subject to the dispute must be material to the conclusive issues in the case. On appeal we apply the same rules, and where we find reasonable minds could differ as to the conclusions drawn from the evidence, summary judgment must be denied. Saliba v. Union Pacific R.R. Co., 264 Kan. 128, 131-32, 955 P.2d 1189 (1998).

After reviewing the record, we find that it is unnecessary to sort through the controverted and uncontroversial facts raised by Lincoln Township to resolve the question of whether the evidence indisputably established that the township road was not always in good condition for travel. The answer is found in affidavits submitted by Lincoln Township to the district court.

Lincoln Township attached three affidavits to its memorandum in opposition to Marshall County's motion for summary judgment: an affidavit by Loren Kent Stowell, treasurer of Lincoln Township; an affidavit by August Barnes, Lincoln Township grader operator; and an affidavit by Donald Van Dorn, trustee of Lincoln Township. All three affidavits stated: "When the road was wet it could be classed as a dirt road and would not be passable for ordinary traffic or school buses." The affidavits by Loren Kent Stowell and Donald Van Dorn stated that the road "was not dangerous and was passable to ordinary traffic at all times except when it was muddy." (Emphasis added.) Lincoln Township's affidavits admit that the township road was not in good condition for travel when the weather was wet and the road was muddy. Each affidavit explained that alternate passable roads were utilized by the school bus and the mail carrier during wet weather, i.e., alternate routes were necessary because the township road was not in condition for travel during those times. The Lincoln Township affidavits clearly establish that the township road was not always in good condition for travel. In addition, the county road supervisor determined the road was not safe for the traveling public. When a statute is plain and unambiguous, the court must give effect to the intention of the legislature as expressed. In re Marriage of Killman, 264 Kan. 33, 42-43, 955 P.2d 1228 (1998).

Under K.S.A. 68-124, the duty of a township is to keep its roads in "good condition for travel." Where the township neglects, refuses, or fails to comply with the statute's mandate, the board of county commissioners of the county in which the township is located may exercise its discretion, conduct road repairs, and charge the township for the cost of the project. K.S.A. 68-124.

K.S.A. 68-124 is unambiguous. Lincoln Township had a duty to maintain its roads in good condition for travel, and Marshall County had discretion to order necessary repairs when Lincoln Township failed to do so. Marshall County determined that Lincoln Township had failed in its duty to keep the road in good condition for travel when the weather was wet or the road was muddy. Marshall County, as authorized by statute, exercised its discretion and made the determination that under the circumstances the road should be in good condition for travel in wet weather. Consequently, it made necessary repairs to the road and charged the expenses to the township.

Marshall County did not act fraudulently, in bad faith, or with gross impropriety; it clearly acted within the bounds of its discretion in ordering the repair of the road. The district court did not err in granting summary judgment in favor of Marshall County.

Cash Basis Law

The affidavit of Donald Van Dorn, trustee of Lincoln Township, states that there were not sufficient funds in the township budget to pay for the road repair. Lincoln Township argues that Marshall County cannot create a debt or obligation for Lincoln Township which Lincoln Township could not lawfully create. Lincoln Township asserts that Marshall County's expenditure for the township's road repair was unlawful because the township was prohibited by the Kansas Cash Basis Law, K.S.A. 10-1101 et seq., from expending funds or creating an indebtedness in excess of the amount of funds actually on hand or in excess of the amount it had budgeted.

The district judge observed that in Lincoln Township's response and opposition to Marshall County's motion for summary judgment, Lincoln Township asserted a defense that it did not have sufficient funds to pay for the cost of the repairs for the improvements to the road. That statement was originally made by Loren Stowell, Lincoln Township Treasurer to the board of county commissioners at its October 17, 1994, meeting. The judge found that the cost for the repairs was a major reason for Lincoln Township's refusal to make the repairs.

The judge observed that Lincoln Township is subject to the provisions of the Kansas Cash Basis Law. It then noted that the provisions of K.S.A. 68-124 do not provide that a township's lack of adequate funds to repair a road creates a bar to the authority of the board of county commissioners to proceed with the repairs. The district court observed that lack of funds may, at least temporarily, prevent payment to the county for the repairs to a township road.

The judge noted that there are provisions under the cash basis law by which an indebtedness in excess of funds on hand may be incurred, such as the issuance of bonds, temporary notes, or no fund warrants, as permitted by K.S.A. 10-1116. The judge concluded the fact Lincoln Township did not have adequate cash funds available to make repairs to the road did not justify or excuse it from making arrangements for the repair of the road or attempting to work out some arrangement with Marshall County for payment of the expenses incurred for the repairs.

Whether the cash basis law constitutes a defense against Marshall County’s claim requires this court to review the applicable statutes. There are exceptions to the cash basis law. K.S.A. 79-2938 allows expenditures for expenses in excess of a governing body’s budget through the use of no-fund warrants. No-fund warrants may be issued where, “because of unforeseen circumstances the revenues of the current budget year for any fund are insufficient to finance the adopted budget of expenditures for such fund for the current budget year.” K.S.A. 79-2938. The budget must already include the expenditures before issuance of no-fund warrants may be approved. If the township must spend more than the amount originally budgeted through the use of no-fund warrants, the township must amend its budget pursuant to K.S.A. 79-2929a.

No-fund warrants will not be authorized by the State Board of Tax Appeals except upon a finding of extreme emergency need. K.S.A. 79-5031. "The term 'extreme emergency need' shall include, but not be limited to, amounts required to comply with state or federal requirements in such areas as ... public health and safety." K.S.A. 79-5030. Clearly, the repair of roads which are not safe for travel is a duty imposed by the State on townships for the purpose of public safety.

Lincoln Township may not use the cash basis law to opt out of complying with statutorily imposed duties. Lincoln Township has not demonstrated to this court that incurring the financial obligation associated with repairing the township road pursuant to K.S.A. 68-124 is unlawful.

Affirmed.

ABBOTT, J., dissenting:

The trial court granted summary judgment in this case. I believe that to be error. I am also troubled by the fact it appears to me we have imposed a duty concerning unimproved roads in Kansas where no duty previously existed. This may have far-reaching effects, not only on townships but on counties, to improve the many miles of unimproved roads in Kansas, as well as potential tort liability.

First, I believe summary judgment was premature. A real question exists as to whether the Board of County Commissioners of Marshall County (Marshall County) repaired and put the road in good condition for travel. When the record is examined, as we must view it, in the light most favorable to Lincoln Township, Marshall County "dumped" 257 tons of rock on a 1 1/2-mile stretch of road. Marshall County does not appear to have spread the rock. Thus, a question remains as to whether Marshall County improved the road for travel.

My main concern is that there has been no duty in Kansas to make unimproved roads passable during a wet period. Lincoln Township has 18 miles of gravel road and 22 miles of unimproved dirt roads. Statewide, there are over 5,000 miles of unimproved dirt roads. I would not hazard a guess as to how many low-water crossings exist in Kansas. Since statehood, persons using low-water crossings and unimproved dirt roads have been inconvenienced by having to take the "long way" home when the creek rose or the road was muddy. Now we say one political group can make improvements, but order another political group to pay the cost of such improvements if the road becomes unusable when it is muddy.

I recognize that Marshall County relied on the fact that the road was used as a farm-to-market road and was used by school busses and by a rural mail carrier. K.S.A. 68-1701 provides that the board of county commissioners may designate roads used for such purposes and receive federal funds for their improvements. Obviously, Marshall County did not consider this road of sufficient importance as a farm-to-market road, school bus route, and rural mail carrier route to include it under K.S.A. 68-1701, but it relies on those three factors to impose a cost on the Township.

Interestingly enough, this court has held that "[w]hile a county is required to improve a county road, it is not required to surface it with gravel." Neosho County Comm'rs v. Burdick, 120 Kan. 698, Syl. ¶ 1, 244 P. 866 (1926). The amount of maintenance on a road has always been discretionary with the county commissioners and should be with the township board. Marshall County has the ability to take over the maintenance of all roads in the county or, under K.S.A. 68-1701, it could take over this specific 1 1/2 miles of roadway if it deems it important enough a farm-to-market road, school bus route, or rural mail carrier route. When the legislature adopted K.S.A. 68-124, I do not believe that it ever intended to allow a board of county commissioners to cause an unimproved dirt road to be graveled at a township's expense solely because the road succumbs to nature and becomes muddy when it rains.

I am concerned that we may be imposing tort liability on counties and townships for failure to gravel unimproved dirt roads. This is because by allowing an exception to the cash basis law, we are saying muddy roads are unsafe. The cash basis law allows an exception for unsafe emergency situations. Muddy roads are not necessarily dangerous roads. They may be irritating and inconvenient, but they do not create an unsafe emergency situation.

I would emphasize that we are dealing with what appears to be a normal, ordinary, dirt road which gets muddy when it rains. The granting of summary judgment in this case is declaring that as a matter of law, the county commissioners in any county that have a township road system can gravel any township road and force the township to pay for it solely because it gets muddy when it rains.

I would reverse the trial court.

MCFARLAND, C.J., and DAVIS, J., join in the foregoing dissenting opinion.

Synopsis: In all counties not operating under the county road unit system, the maintenance of township roads and the purchase of equipment necessary to perform such maintenance, is the duty of the township board. K.S.A. 68-526. For this purpose, the township board consists of the trustee, the treasurer and the clerk. Because these are township board functions, no one officer acting alone may substitute his authority for that reserved to the board. To the extent the language of K.S.A. 68-526 conflicts with the general duties delegated to the trustee pursuant to K.S.A. 80-301, the earlier language of K.S.A. 80-301 must be deemed to be repealed by implication. The township treasurer shall receive and take charge of all moneys belonging to the township, or which are by law required to be paid to him or her, and shall pay out and account for the same upon orders drawn upon him or her by the township trustee, and shall discharge such other duties as may be required of him or her by law.

AG Opinion No. 82-104 Township Treasurer Duties
May 24, 1982

Re: Townships and Township Officers--Township Treasurer--Duties

Synopsis: The duties of a township treasurer are set forth in Article 4 of Chapter 80, Kansas Statutes Annotated, and include the custody of all moneys of the township, the keeping of account books and voucher files and the publishing of notices concerning the financial position of the township. Furthermore, if the payment of money by the township is made by a warrant issued pursuant to K.S.A. 10-801 et seq., the treasurer must sign the warrant before it may be presented to the payee. Interference by other township officials with such duties can, if necessary, be the subject of a quo warranto action initiated by the county attorney. Cited herein: K.S.A. 10-803, 10-804, 60-1203, 80-401, 80-402, 80-403, 80-404, 80-405, 80-410.

Dorothy Shearer
County Clerk
Norton County Courthouse
P. O. Box 70
Norton, Kansas 67654

Dear Ms. Shearer:

As County Clerk for Norton County, Kansas, you request our opinion on behalf of the treasurer of Solomon Township as to the scope of that official's duties. You inform us that at present the township clerk writes and signs all checks drawn on the township, while the township trustee makes deposits and countersigns the checks. The treasurer does not receive any record of deposits which are made or checks which are issued, and so is unable to keep account books in preparation for the annual report due in October. The duties of a township treasurer are numerous, being set forth for the most part at K.S.A. 80-401 et seq. They include the following:

K.S.A. 80-401. 'The township treasurer shall receive and take charge of all moneys belonging to the township, or which are by law required to be paid to him or her, and shall pay out and account for the same upon orders drawn upon him or her by the township trustee, and shall discharge such other duties as may be required of him or her by law.' (Emphasis added.)

K.S.A. 80-402. 'The township treasurer shall keep a true account of all moneys by him or her received by virtue of his or her office, and the manner in which the same have been disbursed, keeping a separate account with each fund, in a book to be provided at the expense of the township for that purpose, and shall exhibit such account, together with his or her vouchers, to the township auditing board at their annual meeting on the last Saturday of October in each year for adjustment and settlement.' (Emphasis added.)

K.S.A. 80-403. 'The account as provided for in the last preceding section shall be made out in duplicate, and shall be verified by affidavit that the same is in all respects true and correct, and that it contains the full and true amount of all moneys received by him or her during the full period of time for which he or she should make such statement; and one of such verified duplicates shall be filed forthwith by the treasurer in the office of the county clerk.' (Emphasis added.)

K.S.A. 80-404. 'In all townships the township treasurer shall deposit all public money coming into his or her hands in an official capacity in a bank which is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or a savings and loan association which is a member of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation within the county, the same to be designated by the township board. Such deposits shall be made in the name of such treasurer as such officer. Township moneys not immediately required for the purposes for which such moneys were collected or received may be invested in the manner provided by K.S.A. 1977 Supp. 12-1675.' (Emphasis added.)

K.S.A. 80-405.

'Every township treasurer shall keep, in a book provided for that purpose, a true account of all moneys received and disbursed by him or her by virtue of his or her office, specifying particularly the sources from which money has been received by him or her; and the person or persons to whom and the objects for which the same has been paid out by him or her; and he or she shall present to the township board, at their quarterly meeting in October, a full and correct itemized statement, duly signed and certified by him or her, of all moneys received and of all moneys paid out by him or her during the year, and he or she shall exhibit the vouchers therefor, which certified statement shall be on a blank provided for that purpose. Said report of said treasurer shall be carefully examined by the board, and when found correct shall be approved by them, and placed in charge of the township trustee.' (Emphasis added.)

K.S.A. 80-410.

'The treasurer of each and every township shall publish, or cause to be published, in some newspaper published in the township of which he or she is treasurer, or in some newspaper published in the county in which such township is located and having a general circulation in such township, immediately following the annual settlement in December of each year, a full and detailed statement, duly verified, of the receipts, expenditures and liabilities of such township for the year ending at the time of such annual settlement.' (Emphasis added.)

In addition, duties of the treasurer concerning warrants or warrant checks drawn on the township are set out at K.S.A. 10-801 et seq. While the trustee initially signs such instruments (K.S.A. 10-803), which are then recorded by the clerk (K.S.A. 10-804), the treasurer must thereupon 'enter in a book kept for that purpose, the number, date and amount of such warrant, or warrant check, on what fund drawn, and the name of the payee.' (K.S.A. 10-805). Further, the treasurer must sign the instrument before it may be delivered to the payee. V Op. Att'y Gen. 631 (Letter of September 15, 1966 to Charles W. Thompson).

While numerous duties of the three elected township officials have been found to be joint ones, exercised through the township board meeting as a body (Attorney General Opinion No. 81-141), those duties set out above are clearly placed solely upon the township treasurer. Given the facts that you present, it may currently be difficult for the treasurer to exercise such duties. Should the impasse continue, a remedy at law exists in the form of a proceeding in quo warranto, K.S.A. 60-1201 et seq. This action may be used to oust the other township officials from an improper exercise of powers given by statute to the treasurer. See, e.g., State ex rel., Stephan v. Carlin, 229 Kan. 665 (1981). By statute, the county attorney is empowered to bring such an action (K.S.A. 60-1203). However, this remedy is an extraordinary one, and it may well be that a meeting between the township officials and the county attorney could resolve the situation before such an action was brought.

In conclusion, the duties of a township treasurer are set forth in Article 4 of Chapter 80, Kansas Statutes Annotated, and include the custody of all moneys of the township, the keeping of account books and voucher files and the publishing of notices concerning the financial position of the township. Furthermore, if the payment of money of the township is made by a warrant issued pursuant to K.S.A. 10-801 et seq., the treasurer must sign the warrant before it may be presented to the payee. Interference by other township officials with such duties can, if necessary, be the subject of a quo warranto action initiated by the county attorney.

Very truly yours

Robert T. Stephan

Such warrants shall be issued, registered, redeemed and bear interest in the manner and be in the form prescribed by K.S.A. 79-2940, and amendments thereto, except they shall not bear the notation required by such section and may be issued without the approval of the state board of tax appeals.

80-120. Transfer of township powers and duties to county; procedure; creation of special fund in certain cases.

(a) The township board of any township may adopt a resolution proposing to transfer all powers, duties and functions of the township board to the board of county commissioners of the county in which such township is located. If a special fund is created, the board of county commissioners shall expend the moneys in such special fund for the exercise of the powers, duties and functions imposed by law upon township boards in the township from which it was received. The county treasurer shall credit and transfer to such special fund of each township all tax moneys in the treasurer's hands on the date the resolution was approved by the voters which were received by the treasurer in payment of taxes levied by such township for such purposes and all such taxes thereafter collected by the treasurer. The treasurer shall credit and transfer all other moneys in the treasurer's hands on the date the resolution was approved by the voters which were received by the treasurer for the use of such township for such purposes.
(c) Upon approval of the resolution by the voters, the township board shall turn over and deliver to the board of county commissioners of such county any and all assets and property such township has acquired. Following the transfer of all assets and property to the board of county commissioners, the township board of such township shall be and is hereby abolished.

(d) Unless the board of county commissioners determines that all duties and funds of the township shall be assumed by the county as provided in subsection (b), on or before the first Monday in July of each year the board shall prepare a budget of expenditures for the exercise of the powers, duties and functions transferred to the county. The board shall itemize the expenses and amounts and the purposes therefor. Subject to the same limitations imposed by law on township boards, the board of county commissioners are hereby authorized to levy a tax upon all assessed taxable tangible property of the township sufficient to raise the amount for such expenditures. Notice of the hearing shall be published at least once each week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the township. At such hearing, any person who desires to appear and speak shall be given the opportunity to be heard.

(b) Following such hearing, the board of county commissioners may adopt a resolution of intent to acquire the land, or any portion of such land, described in the petition submitted by the township board. If the board of county commissioners determines that land other than that described in the petition is more suitable for the township purposes, the board may adopt a resolution of intent to acquire such other land for the township.

Any resolution adopted pursuant to this subsection shall be published at least once each week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the township. If within 30 days following the date of last publication, a petition signed by at least 5% of the qualified electors of the township is filed with the county election officer, no land shall be acquired pursuant to this section unless the question is submitted to and approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the township voting at an election thereon. (b) In addition to its other powers, any separate legal entity referred to in this section shall be authorized, subject to any limitations imposed by contract, to issue bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness, in its own name, on behalf of the public agencies that are or become parties to the agreement creating the separate legal entity for those purposes for which such public agencies are authorized pursuant to the constitution and laws of this state to issue bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness. Such bonds, notes or other indebtedness may be payable from or secured by any property, interest or income of the separate legal entity, from whatever source derived, but shall not constitute a charge against or indebtedness of any public agency on behalf of which such bonds, notes or other indebtedness are issued. In issuing such bonds, notes or other indebtedness, the separate legal entity shall act as the constituted authority of the public agencies on behalf of which such bonds, notes or other indebtedness are issued, and the interest on such bonds, notes or other indebtedness shall be exempt from taxation under the laws of this state. Such action shall be maintainable against any

This requirement of submission and approval shall be in addition to and not in substitution for the requirement of submission to and approval by the attorney general.

Township KSA Summary
This report attempts to answer the Township Study Questions: “What do the statutes require the townships to do?” and “What do the statutes authorize/allow the townships to do?”

Introduction
In “Kansas Township Government in the 1970s,” Fisher and West observed that “townships, like cities and counties, are legal creatures of the state, whose powers and privileges are subject to the will of the legislature.” (Glenn W. Fisher and Lynne Daggett West, “Kansas Government in the 1970s,” 1978, p. 40). This is certainly observable with Kansas townships. While they currently retain authority to perform various municipal functions, they have been mostly relieved of responsibility, over the past several decades, for the few governmental functions in which they were formerly involved (e.g., law enforcement, property assessment). As Fisher/West observed, this may be part of the reason for the decline in the activity level of many Kansas townships. The distinction between governmental functions as opposed to municipal functions may also be important in looking at what is required versus what is authorized/allowed in terms of township functions.

While governmental functions, on the one hand, have been generally understood to be those “exercised by local governments as agents of the state, at the direction of the state … involve the general welfare, [and] … are intended to be uniform …” (Id.), municipal functions on the other hand “have been defined as those which: ‘specifically and peculiarly promote the comfort, convenience, safety and happiness of the citizens of the municipality rather than the welfare of the general public … ‘” (Id., citing Chardkoff Junk Co. v. City of Tampa, 102 Fla. 501, 135 So. 457, 459). They have been referred to as “service” or “optional” functions, and their provision may vary according to local needs and customs. (Id. at p. 41).

What follows is a summary of the main statutes pertaining to townships which on their face either require or authorize/allow townships and/or township officers to do various things. It should be noted that in order to gain a full understanding of what is legally required of townships, as compared to what is simply legally authorized or allowed for them to do, some additional research into current Kansas case law and Attorney General opinions, at a minimum, interpreting the current statutes should be undertaken by a qualified legal intern or attorney.

Detail of Required Services and Activities
The vast majority of statutes addressing township functions authorize certain services to be performed by the townships, and authorize them to issue bonds and levy taxes to support those functions. Several statutes require certain administrative, accounting, recordkeeping and reporting systems be followed in carrying out these functions. There are, however, some statutes which do require action on the part of townships, or at least imply that action is required. These are listed here first. The most detailed of these statutes refer to what seems to be the townships’ main functions today, those of road maintenance and noxious weed control.

Road Maintenance
KSA 68-526 states that in non-county-unit counties, the township boards “shall have the general charge and supervision of all township roads and township culverts in their respective townships. The board shall procure machinery, implements, tools, drain tile, stone, gravel and any other material or equipment required, for the construction or repair of such roads and culverts. All work shall be done in accordance with plans and specifications and the general regulations to be prepared and furnished by the county engineer.” It is important to note that there is a fair amount of oversight by the county engineer in road matters, as references to the approval of or provision of guidance by that office appear throughout this chapter. The wording of 68-526 at least implies that road maintenance is a required township function for those counties on the township-unit road system and there are several specific duties delineated in the statutes. For example, the township trustee, clerk and treasurer “shall constitute” the board of highway commissioners (68-523), and they “shall hold regular meetings” (quarterly-months are specified) (68-524), “shall keep an accurate record of all official acts…” (68-525), and “shall receive compensation” for their services in this capacity (68-525). They also “shall appoint, on merits only…” a road overseer, with the approval of the county engineer (68-530) who may or may not have assistants. The road overseer is further required to submit itemized monthly reports of all labor and materials used to the township board (68-538); the township clerk, in turn, is required to submit an annual report to the county engineer of all road work done (68-539). For larger townships, KSA 68-117a requires that townships with populations of 10,000 or more, which are outside the limits of any city or town, needing to improve roads do so by petition to the board of county commissioners, by at least 50% of landowners of the property abutting the proposed improvement, and requires owner(s) to post bond.

Noxious Weed Control
KSA 2-1314 requires townships to control noxious weeds -- “It shall be the duty of … the township boards … to control the spread of and to eradicate all weeds declared by legislative action to be noxious on all lands owned or supervised by them …”. The duty is imposed upon whoever or whatever entity is in control of the land so infested, so in the case of land under the control of a township, it would be required to perform this function. KSA 2-1318 also requires the township to levy a tax for this purpose based on information received from the county weed supervisor.

Care of Abandoned Cemeteries
KSA 80-916 requires townships to care for abandoned cemeteries, and cut weeds and grass in them at least twice a year. A spending restriction is imposed by the statute: “…such township board shall appropriate and expend not more than $500 per year for each such cemetery.”

Issuance of Bonds and Levying of Taxes
In some instances the language of the statutes require townships to issue bonds and/or levy taxes in support of services provided by the township, particularly services that are required of the township, such as those just discussed. Some examples of required tax levies or bond issues are:
KSA 2-1318 (townships shall levy taxes for control of noxious weeds)
KSA 68-131 (townships shall levy a tax to pay for sidewalks when sidewalk construction is approved by residents)
KSA 80-903, 80-907 (townships shall levy a tax to pay interest on bonds issued under KSA 80-902 & 80-906 for acquisition of parks and cemeteries)

Miscellaneous
KSA 8-1,134 requires all township vehicles to be permanently registered, and requires townships to make an annual report to the division of vehicles identifying such vehicles. KSA 9-1401 requires township boards to designate depositories, within the same county as the township as long as adequate security can be obtained, in which to deposit all funds coming into township possession. There are specific requirements as to securities for public funds as well. (9-1402, 9-1405)
KSA 25-203 requires primary elections, including township elections, be held on the first Tuesday of August in even numbered years. KSA 25-1601 requires general elections, including township general elections, be held on the Tuesday following the first Monday in November, in even numbered years.

Detail of Authorized or Allowed Functions and Activities
In addition to the above requirements, there are many others which townships are authorized to carry out.

KSA 80-2201, 80-2204 (certain townships may levy taxes and/or issue bonds to pay for land or equipment for disposal of trash)

Administrative Matters

KSA 12-1675 authorizes townships to invest public funds which are “not immediately required for the purposes for which the moneys were collected or received” (“idle funds”), but places restrictions on types of investment vehicles which may be used and requires that all such funds be secured.
KSA 75-1125 authorizes any township not required to have an annual audit to hire licensed municipal public accountants or CPAs to conduct an audit, and imposes a duty upon the township to do so upon petition of at least 20% of the voters.
Townships may form interlocal agreements under the Interlocal Cooperation Act (KSA 12-2901 - 12-2910). If such agreements are formed, there are certain required components to the agreements, and any such agreements are required to be approved by the Attorney General.
Township boards, their boards of county commissioners, and/or their residents may take various actions to begin the process of consolidation, reorganization, or disorganization. These provisions are found in KSA 80-1101 – 80-1117. Some of note:
• Townships with populations of less than 200 may be disorganized by their county board of commissioners unless opposed by a majority of voters (80-1101);

• Townships in counties with populations of less than 3000 with no township indebtedness may be abolished and new townships created (80-1105);

• Two or more townships within the same state representative district may consolidate (80-1109);

• Townships in counties on the county-unit road system may be disorganized (80-1110, 80-1111);

• For townships with no residents, the board of county commissioners may either disorganize the township or consolidate it with the geographically closest functioning township within the same county (80-1117).

In addition, KSA 80-120 authorizes township boards to adopt a resolution proposing to transfer “all powers, duties and functions of the township board” to the board of county commissioners (BOCC). The resolution must then be submitted to the voters for approval, and if approved the BOCC takes over the township’s functions. There is also a provision for return of powers to the township if petitioned and subsequently approved by the voters.

_Cemeteries and Parks_
KSA 80-901 authorizes townships to acquire parks and cemeteries (as restricted by 80-904); two or more townships may join to acquire parks and cemeteries (80-905, as restricted by 80-906). Cemetery Districts may be formed pursuant to certain conditions (15-1013 et seq.), and Cemetery Corporations may be formed under certain conditions (17-1342 et seq.)

_Drainage and Levees_
KSA 24-201 et seq. authorizes the township trustee to determine the need for construction of “ditches, drains and watercourses” and to cause them to be constructed. KSA 24-701 et seq. provides a mechanism for petition to court to allow construction on private land.

_Fire Protection, Fire Districts_
KSA 80-1501 et seq. authorizes townships and counties to join with another municipality in the maintenance of a fire department (statute sets out specifics regarding these types of agreements); employees may be compensated or volunteer; special clothing and equipment, as well as insurance may be provided; the governing body of a fire department created hereunder “may reorganize itself into a consolidated fire district” under KSA 12-3910.
KSA 80-1512 authorizes the creation of fire districts by townships with populations of 10,000 or more, outside the limits of an incorporated city. KSA 80-1514a creates some specific authorizations for fire districts created under 80-1512, such as acquisition of real and personal property (land, buildings, equipment), issuance of bonds, payment of employees, and exercise of eminent domain, just to name a few.

KSA 80-1540 authorizes the creation of fire districts, not only by single townships, but also by joining more than one township. The fire district may include all or part of the participating townships, and the formation of it must be approved by the voters. The governing body of the fire district is to be comprised of the township boards of the participating townships if there are four or less, or by an agreed upon number of representative(s) from the boards of each township if more than four (KSA 80-1542). KSA 80-1541 enumerates similar powers for these types of fire districts as those set out in 80-1514a for districts created under 80-1512. KSA 80-1544 authorizes compensation and furnishing of benefits, quarters, clothing and special equipment to employees. It also requires the auditing board to meet once a month to examine all claims, and to file an annual report with the county clerk for approval by the board of county commissioners by January 31 each year. The auditing board is to be compensated for their services.

Emergency Medical Services, Ambulance

KSA 65-6113 authorizes townships (“any municipality”) to establish, operate and maintain an emergency medical or ambulance service, and to contract for the service.

Law Enforcement

KSA 12-11a-06 authorizes certain townships and third class cities to share law enforcement departments.

Libraries, Library Districts

KSA 12-1218 et seq., 12-1236 authorizes acquisition of site for and building of library, maintenance, equipment; 12-1236 authorizes creation of library districts.

Licensing

KSA 80-1302 authorizes townships to issue licenses for pool/billiard halls, bowling alleys, roller skating rinks and dance halls.

Prairie Dog, Mole and Gopher Eradication

KSA 80-1201 et seq. authorizes townships to purchase material and employ persons to eradicate prairie dogs, moles and gophers.

Refuse Collection and Disposal

KSA 80-2201 et seq. authorizes certain townships to acquire land and equipment for disposal of trash.

Roads

KSA 68-141g authorizes the transfer of money from the road fund to a “special machinery” fund, subject to some restrictions. KSA 80-306 authorizes township trustee to prosecute all “road laws,” and requires the county attorney to act on behalf of the township. KSA 80-307 authorizes the trustee to remove obstructions from roadways if road overseer fails to do so, and to “call out the inhabitants” to assist in doing so.
Sewage Districts
KSA 80-2002 authorizes townships with public water supply to establish sewage districts.

Sidewalk Construction
KSA 68-131 authorizes townships to construct sidewalks upon petition of at least 51% of residents whose property abuts property where sidewalk would go.

Township Hall
KSA 80-104 authorizes township boards to acquire land for the township and erect buildings on it.
KSA 80-107 authorizes two neighboring townships to build a joint township hall with voter approval.

Detail of Additional Administrative Requirements
Within and relating to all of these required and authorized functions, there are certain administrative, recordkeeping and reporting requirements.

Open Meetings Act
KSA 75-4317, 75-4318 – As taxing subdivisions of the State, townships would be required to comply with the Open Meetings Act.

Bonds and Taxes
KSA 10-105 requires that any bonds which are issued by a township must be signed by the trustee, attested by the township clerk and countersigned by the township treasurer.
KSA 79-1801 requires townships to certify to their county clerks by August 25 of each year the amount of ad valorem tax to be levied (this is part of the budget submittal).

Accounting, Auditing, Budgeting, Reporting
KSA 10-1101, et seq. – known as the Cash Basis Law – “prohibits townships (or any other governmental unit) from creating any financial indebtedness unless the money is actually on hand, in the appropriate fund, and unencumbered by any prior commitments.” (Melody L.G. Rebenstorf, “Kansas Township Handbook,” 1995, p. 23) Several exceptions to this exist in the statutes, e.g., obligations for which money has been identified by bonds or no fund warrants (KSA 10-1116).
KSA 12-105a establishes a “uniform procedure for payment of claims and other indebtedness by municipalities” – most of the language in this act is mandatory.
KSA 75-1120 establishes a uniform system of procedures, accounting and reporting for all municipalities in the state, including a requirement for an annual audit of certain municipalities; KSA 75-1120a requires compliance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP).
KSA 75-1122 defines which municipalities are required to have annual audits (gross receipts or outstanding bonds in excess of $275k) – however, it also allows townships to be exempted from the annual audit requirement each year if their board passes a resolution requesting the exemption – the language is mandatory: “Upon receipt of the resolution, the director of accounts and reports shall waive the requirement for an audit for such year.”
KSA 79-2925 – 79-2937 – known as the Budget Law – “requires Kansas townships (as well as other municipalities or taxing units of the government) to prepare an annual budget, and prohibits non-budgeted spending.” (Rebenstorf, p. 24) This act creates the balanced budget requirement.

KSA 79-2927 requires the township boards to meet no later than August 1 of each year to prepare their budgets (also contains other specifics about budget itself); KSA 79-2929 requires a public hearing on the budget, and KSA 79-2929a requires a public hearing on amended budgets.

KSA 79-2934 requires the townships to adhere to fund accounting principles – funds budgeted for and allocated to one purpose may not be used for another. Each fund stands alone as its own appropriation.

KSA 80-302 designates township trustee, clerk and treasurer as the township auditing board, and requires them to meet quarterly to audit all claims; it also requires them to file their annual report with the county clerk for approval by the board of county commissioners by January 31 of each year.

KSA 80-304 requires the township trustee to provide a detailed annual report of items audited and allowed to the board of county commissioners for examination, approval and filing with the county clerk.

KSA 80-402 requires the township treasurer to keep records of receipts and disbursements by fund, and to present them together with the vouchers to the township auditing board at their October meeting; a verified copy of this report shall be filed with the county clerk.

KSA 80-405 also requires the treasurer to keep a record of receipts and disbursements, and to present an itemized statement of same to the township board at their October meeting; this report is to be examined and given to the township trustee.

KSA 80-406 requires the township trustee to make a verified statement of all bills allowed by the township each year, ending with the October meeting, and keep on file in his/her office.

KSA 80-407 requires the treasurer’s statement per KSA 80-405 and the trustee’s statement per KSA 80-406 to be posted at the polling place at the time of election of township officials.

KSA 80-410 requires the township treasurer to file a detailed financial statement with the county clerk by January 31 each year; if the budget exceeds $25,000, s/he must also publish a summary with notice that the detailed statement is available at the county clerk’s office; s/he is also required to file a detailed statement of money paid to each member of the township board.

KSA 80-502 requires the clerk to immediately record in the township’s records and publish by posting at the usual place of holding elections a certified copy of the trustee’s annual report.

Deposit and Investment of Public Funds

KSA 12-1675 allows the investment of “idle funds,” and specifies what types of investment vehicles may be used for public moneys.
KSA 80-404 requires the township treasurer to deposit all public money he/she receives in a qualified depository (as defined here) as specified by the township board; idle funds may be invested.

Elections
KSA 25-904 requires candidates for township offices to file campaign expense reports with the county election commissioner, if their expected contributions or campaign spending will exceed $500, within 30 days after the election.

Fire Districts
KSA 80-1514 designates the township board as the governing body of the fire district, except if “a major portion” of it lies within a city or cities and all of the territory is in one county commissioner district. In that case, the board is to be comprised of three members appointed by the county commissioner.
KSA 80-1544 requires the auditing board for the fire district to meet once a month to audit claims, and to file their annual report with the county clerk for approval by the board of county commissioners by January 31.

Interlocal Agreements
KSA 12-2904 specifies what must be included in any interlocal agreement which may be entered into by townships, and requires that all such agreements be submitted to the Attorney General for approval.

Roads
KSA 68-524 requires the township board of highway commissioners to meet quarterly, and 68-525 requires them to keep records of their “official acts.”
KSA 68-538 requires the road overseer to submit an itemized monthly report of all labor and materials used to the township board.
KSA 68-539 requires the township clerk to submit an annual report of all road maintenance expenses to the county engineer.

Cemeteries and Parks
KSA 80-913 requires townships having authority for maintenance of parks and/or cemeteries, and which have issued bonds for this purpose, to make an annual report of the condition of such parks and cemeteries and of the related expenditures/receipts.

Prairie Dogs
KSA 80-1203 requires townships engaged in prairie dog eradication to appear before the board of county commissioners in August and give an estimate of the expenses required.

Township Officials
KSA 80-202 requires township officers to live within the township, road overseers to live within the road district; when elected, officers must take the oath of office and file it with the county clerk within 20 days.
Various statutes require that township officials be paid for their services in connection with township business, for example: KSA 68-525 (township highway board shall be compensated); KSA 68-530, 68-531 (authorizes/requires compensation for road overseer and assistants); KSA 80-207 (township officers and members of the board shall be compensated and shall receive reimbursement for expenses); KSA 80-302 (auditing board shall be compensated); KSA 80-1204 (trustee and assistants shall be compensated for prairie dog eradication); KSA 80-1407 (township board members shall receive compensation for services in connection with supervision of a township water system); KSA 80-1514 (governing body of fire district is not to be compensated but is to receive reimbursement for expenses); KSA 80-1544 (governing body of fire district shall be compensated); KSA 80-2002 (governing board of sewage district shall be compensated). In most instances, the amount of compensation is to be set by the township board. In looking at these statutes, it is worth noting that very often the same people who comprise the township board (clerk, treasurer and trustee – see, e.g., KSA 80-505, 80-1525) also comprise these various specific boards and governing bodies -- per the language of the statutes in many cases (see, e.g., KSA 68-523, 80-302).

Vehicles
KSA 8-1,134 requires each township to file an annual report with the division of vehicles identifying each vehicle owned by the township.

Appendix C – Kansas Open Meeting Act (KOMA)

Note: The following is part of the KOMA information contained in the County Desk Book 2019 published by the Kansas Association of Counties. For more complete information the desk book can be downloaded from the Kansas Association of Counties website. Townships have to follow the same requirements as the counties and cities.

8.3.1 Definition of a Meeting

In 2015, the legislature amended K.S.A. § 75-4317a to define a “meeting” as follows:
Any gathering or assembly, in person or through the use of a telephone or any other medium for interactive communication;
By a majority of the membership of a public body or agency;
For the purpose of discussing the business or affairs of the public body or agency.

Each of these requirements has important considerations for county officials.

8.3.2 Meeting is Defined as any Gathering or Assembly

Under the definition of a meeting under K.S.A. § 75-4317a, two commissioners of a three commissioner Board will create a meeting any time they discuss business or affairs of the Board, whether in a public meeting or in private. The addition to the statute of the references to telephone or any other medium for interactive communication expanded the definition to include all forms of simultaneous communication between Board members. The legislative amendment makes it clear that physical presence is not required; a meeting can occur by telephone, e-mail, or any other means of interactive communication. Thus, two commissioners discussing county business by phone constitutes a meeting subject to the KOMA.

One Attorney General Opinion, A.G. 09-29, examined email discussions and noted that interactive communication requires a mutual or reciprocal exchange between members of a body. The AG opined that interactive communication via email does not occur when a private citizen communicates with a majority of the body and one member replies back and shares the response with other members. But if members of the body respond back and forth and there is intent to reach agreement on a matter that would require binding action, that communication could be subject to KOMA.

This is not to say the Board cannot conduct a meeting by telephone, or with some members participating by telephone. As long as all of the other requirements are met— such as providing notice and ensuring the public can hear the conversation—such a meeting may be held.¹ That said, KAC advises against doing so because it undermines the spirit of openness and accessibility for citizens.

8.3.3 A Majority of the Membership—Quorum Replacement
In 2008 the Kansas legislature deleted the requirement of a majority of a quorum from the definition of a meeting in K.S.A. § 75-4317a. This means a quorum is no longer relevant for KOMA purposes. Now, a majority of the members of a public body may not meet except in a public meeting. Therefore, if a county has a three-member Board, two members could not meet together under the old law, and they still cannot meet under the new law. With a five-member Board, however, two members could meet without a KOMA violation.

The legislature also amended K.S.A. § 75-4318 to mandate that interactive communications in a series be open if they:
1) Collectively involve a majority of the membership of the public body or agency;
2) Share a common topic of discussion concerning the business or affairs of the public body or agency; and
3) Are intended by any or all of the participants to reach agreement on a matter that would require binding action to be taken by the public body or agency.

Serial meetings inherently violate KOMA because there is no way to give notice of such meetings, or for the public to attend the one-by-one meetings between each member of the body.

8.3.4 Business is Discussed

The purpose of the open meetings law is to ensure “an informed electorate” – to give citizens the opportunity to know what their government is doing. For that reason the KOMA applies to all meetings “for the purpose of discussing the business or affairs of the body.”

It is important to note that KOMA does not merely apply to meetings in which business is transacted and votes taken, but includes all gatherings in which public business is discussed. As a Kansas appellate court has stated, “meeting” includes all gatherings at all stages of the decision making process. A public body cannot avoid the requirements of the KOMA by labeling a gathering as a “work session” or a “retreat.” The title of the meeting is irrelevant if business is discussed.

Purely social gatherings do not violate the KOMA. The third element is not met so long as business is not discussed. A public body can hold a social event, such as dinner to welcome new members. However, if members talk about business, a meeting subject to the KOMA occurs. Again, the name of a gathering is irrelevant if all three elements of a meeting exist. To avoid rumors and allegations of wrongdoing, it is advisable for public bodies not to engage in exclusive social events.

There is no law prohibiting county commissioners from holding meetings in locations other than the courthouse. The Attorney General has opined that a meeting cannot be in a location that would make it impossible for the public to attend without cost, such as a country club. While a meeting could be in a restaurant, there must not be a requirement that persons attending purchase a meal, pay a cover charge, or other similar restrictions. The public must be able to listen to a public body’s discussions. The key to determining whether the location of a meeting subverts the statutory mandate of openness is accessibility of the meeting to the public. Note that other laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act will govern the accessibility of the meeting room for members of the public with disabilities.

Another situation to consider is when a public body meets with another public body. For example, two or more commissioners attend a city council meeting to discuss with council members an issue that affects both entities. A county commission meeting occurs under this scenario as all three elements of meeting are met: a gathering of a majority of the members of the governing body for the purpose of discussing the business of the body. Such joint meetings can occur so long as both public bodies meet the notice provisions and other requirements of the KOMA.

Finally, consider the breadth of “discussing business” with the following examples. If—before every scheduled meeting—commissioners gather across the street from the courthouse at the coffee shop, and they discuss only the weather and sports, there is no KOMA violation. If, however, the conversation concerns the impending meeting, a violation occurs. As a final example, consider two commissioners whose daughters play on the same softball team. They are seated near each other at the game. A constituent approaches, asking about more gravel on a road. There is a gathering of a majority of the Board and if they start discussing business that should properly come before the full Board, they violate KOMA. These examples serve as reminders to be diligent in only discussing business under the terms of the open meetings law.

8.4.1 Notice Requirement

If the Board completes the three parts of the meeting definition, then a meeting subject to the KOMA occurs and the county must provide notice of the meeting. If the gathering does not qualify as a meeting, such as a purely social event, there is no requirement to give notice. Additionally, the county must provide notice to those persons who specifically requested notice of meetings. Stated another way, the Legislature does not require public bodies to provide notice of meetings if no one has asked to be notified. Despite the absence of requiring general notice to the public, it is the sign of a well-functioning and open government to broadly circulate notice of public meetings.

Notice of the date, time, and place for all meetings, including committee meetings, must be furnished to all persons that have requested it. A public body may require persons requesting notice to resubmit their request each year to continue receiving notice. The public body must, however, tell the person that it will discontinue notice unless they resubmit their request. The presiding officer, or other person calling the meeting, must furnish notice of the meeting.

8.4.2 Form of Request and Notice

The statute concerning KOMA notice does not provide much guidance on the notice requirement. As a result, the Attorney General has issued a number of opinions in this area.

A request for notice can either be made in writing or orally. The residency of the requester is irrelevant and no fee can be charged for providing notice even if you mail it to Timbuktu. If the notice is requested by petition, the petition must designate one person to receive notice on behalf of all persons named in the petition. Similarly, if notice is furnished to an executive officer of an employees’ organization or trade association, notice is deemed to have been furnished to the entire membership.

If persons have requested notice of your meetings, posting or publishing notice in the newspaper is insufficient. Public bodies must furnish notice to each individual. A single notice can suffice for regularly scheduled meetings. For example, “commission meetings are held the second and fourth Mondays of the month at 9:00 a.m. in the courthouse.” Notice need not be given before each meeting; a single notice meets the requirement. However, if the date, time, or location ever changes, or if a special meeting is called, the county must notify the requester.

The law imposes no time limit for receipt of notice prior to a meeting. The Attorney General’s office has followed a “reasonable time” standard—reasonableness depending on the circumstances of the situation. For instance, if a meeting is scheduled two weeks in advance, providing notice the day before the meeting would not be reasonable. According to the Attorney General, when a governing body gives notice that a meeting will be held on a certain day and subsequently moves that meeting to another day without a good faith attempt to notify the persons requesting notice, then the body has violated the notice requirement.

8.4.3 Agendas

The KOMA does not require that an agenda be made. But it does say if an agenda is prepared, copies must be made available to any person requesting one. The body is not required to mail agendas, but it can provide them in a public place or at the meeting.

The Kansas appellate courts have said that if a body chooses to create an agenda, it should include the topics planned for discussion. Additionally, the court determined a school board is not required to have an agenda, but if it does have one, it can be amended.

8.5.1 Open Meetings

Any person has the right to attend a public meeting. The KOMA, however, does not give the public a right to be placed on the agenda or to participate in meetings. It is a “right to listen” law rather than a “right to speak” law. The public does have a right of access to any records or documents reviewed or identified during the public meeting.
and recording devices must be allowed at public meetings, but the public agency may adopt “reasonable rules designed to ensure the orderly conduct of the proceedings.”

The KOMA prohibits secret ballots. The public must be able to ascertain how each member voted, such as a roll call or show of hands. Voting can be done by paper only if each member writes their name on the ballot along with their choice and the paper ballots are open for inspection by any person. This rule goes to the heart of KOMA – how can the public be informed about their local government if they do not know how they voted?

The Attorney General has issued several opinions concerning the location of a meeting. The key to determining whether the location of a meeting would subvert the statutory mandate of openness is accessibility to the public. Therefore, county commissioners can hold their meetings in the various towns in the county if notice of the location is given to persons who have requested notice. Additionally, a meeting can be located outside the state of Kansas if: (1) it is considered reasonably necessary to conduct public business outside of Kansas, rather than a subversion of the policy for open public meetings; (2) persons requesting notice of the meeting will be given such notice; and (3) the inconvenience and cost for interested persons to attend a meeting outside of Kansas or by teleconference or videoconference is not excessive.

The Attorney General has concluded that public bodies can meet by telephone conference call so long as the KOMA requirements are met. The county must still give notice of the meeting, and the county must also provide a speakerphone at a location so citizens can attend and listen to the conversation among the members. Conference calls are generally used most often by state boards whose members are located all over the state. A county commission, however, could use a conference call to accommodate an absent member (e.g. hospitalization, out of town, etc.).

8.5.2 Executive Sessions – Procedure

The open meetings law allows public bodies to recess into an executive session to discuss certain subjects behind closed doors. An open meeting must be held before a body can recess into executive session; a body cannot just meet privately and state that an executive session was held.

To go into executive session, a motion must be made, seconded, carried, and recorded in the minutes. The motion must contain a statement describing the subject to be discussed, the justification listed in K.S.A. § 75-4319(b) for closing the meeting, and the time and place the open meeting will resume. Two examples of executive session motions follow:

“I move we recess into executive session for the reason of attorney-client privilege to discuss pending litigation. We will reconvene the open meeting in the conference room at 10:00 a.m.”
“I move we recess into executive session on the basis of personnel matters to review employee evaluations. We will return to the commission room in 30 minutes.”

The question as to how much detail a motion must contain has been addressed, but not completely answered. The Kansas Court of Appeals has said that the following motion was sufficient; closure was “for the purposes of discussing personnel matters of non-elected personnel because if this matter were discussed in open session it might invade the privacy of those discussed.” The Attorney General argued in that case that the motion did not contain a sufficient justification statement. In a subsequent opinion, the Attorney General stated as follows:

In order to comply with the letter and the spirit of the law and to avoid the appearance of intent to subvert the purposes of the act, we encourage public bodies who wish to go into executive session to make a motion which, among other things, contains the subject and a statement concerning the justification. In our opinion the justification statement should be more than a reiteration of the subject. The KOMA does not require the justification statement to be so detailed that it negates the usefulness of an executive session. However …this statement should explain why an executive session is necessary or desirable. Such a motion gives the public assurances that the executive session is permissible and in the public interest, and may remind the members of the public body of the limitations upon and purpose served by the executive session discussion.

The AG opinion speaks to the spirit of the law and the importance of extending as much openness as possible without violating an individual’s privacy rights.

8.5.3 Executive Session – Subjects

The KOMA allows certain topics to be discussed behind closed doors. The most commonly used exemption is personnel matters of non-elected personnel. “Personnel” means an employee of a public agency. Appointments to boards or committees are not employees and cannot be discussed in executive session. Additionally, independent contractors hired by public bodies are not employees. Therefore, if a public body desires to hire an independent contractor, such as an engineer or an attorney, discussions regarding the selection and qualifications must be in an open meeting.

The Attorney General has said that an executive session can be used to discuss an individual, but not groups in general. For example, an executive session could be held to discuss whether a certain employee should receive a pay raise. However, discussions regarding across-the-board pay raises for all employees, such as cost of living, must be in open session. An executive session may be used to interview, discuss, and consider an applicant or prospective employee, but all binding action must be done in open session.
A public body may go into executive session for consultation with its attorney which would be deemed privileged in the attorney-client relationship.\textsuperscript{xxxix} Only the attorney and the client can be present in the executive session and the communication must be privileged, meaning, it is a conversation limited to the client and the attorney in which legal advice is provided and it is intended to be confidential.\textsuperscript{xli} The attorney must be present; an executive session cannot be called to discuss a letter from the body’s attorney if the attorney is not present.\textsuperscript{xli} This is the exemption most often abused, and public agencies should—as a general rule—only use the exemption when that agency is facing litigation.

The third subject which may be discussed behind closed doors includes matters relating to employer-employee negotiations—regardless of in consultation with the representative for the employees.\textsuperscript{xlii} The Attorney General has opined that public bodies can meet in executive session to discuss the conduct or status of negotiations, with or without the authorized representative who is actually doing the bargaining.\textsuperscript{xliii}

A public body may go into an executive session to discuss confidential data relating to financial affairs or trade secrets of corporations, partnerships, trusts, and individual proprietorships.\textsuperscript{xlv} County economic development commissions generally use this exception. This exception can be used when the topic clearly involves confidential financial data or “trade secrets” as the term has been defined by Kansas courts.\textsuperscript{xlvi}

The KOMA allows actions affecting a student, patient, or resident of a public institution to be discussed in closed session.\textsuperscript{xlvii} The purpose is to protect individual privacy. A public hearing must be held if requested by the person involved.

An executive session may be held to preliminarily discuss the acquisition of real estate.\textsuperscript{xlviii} The Attorney General has said that this exception can be used only when the primary focus of the discussions is real property; negotiating strategy alone is not sufficient for a closed-door discussion.\textsuperscript{xlv} The sale of property must be discussed in an open meeting.\textsuperscript{xlix} The purpose of this exception is to prevent the premature release of a County’s possible purchase of real property so that the price does not increase.

Closed, executive sessions are also allowed for matters of security of a public body or agency, information system, building, or facility if public discussion of such matters would jeopardize the security of those entities.\textsuperscript{l}

Keep in mind that all of these session topics are exemptions to the rule and the presumption that meetings are open. It should be relatively uncommon for a public agency to work in executive session.

8.5.4 Open v. Closed Meetings

By statute, the open meetings law declares it to be “against the public policy of this state” for any meeting subject to the act to be adjourned to another time or place in order to subvert the policy of openness. This means, for example, that if a meeting is scheduled and citizens are in attendance, the meeting cannot be adjourned to prevent or discourage the public from attending the meeting or to avoid discussion of the matter before the public.

The open meetings law specifically states that binding action cannot be taken in executive session. For example, a public body cannot take binding action on a settlement agreement behind closed doors. The Kansas Court of Appeals has said that the KOMA “is not violated where a consensus may have been reached in executive session, but the motion and action thereon took place in an open meeting.” If a consensus is reached in executive session that amounts to binding action, a vote by the commission must be held in open meeting.

Only the members of the public body have the right to attend executive sessions. “Mere observers” are not permitted when meeting in executive session. Also, a county clerk does not have the right to attend the executive session of a county commission. Persons who aid the body in its discussions may be admitted to an executive session, such as the Human Resource Director when discussing a personnel issue. While the law does not prohibit a member of the Board from discussing in public what occurred in executive session, there are a number of policy reasons for avoiding this. If executive session is necessary, then commissioners should tread cautiously when discussing what occurred during executive session. The best step is to consult with your county counselor before doing so. Also, note that Kansas Federal Court has ruled that matters discussed in a closed meeting are not privileged from discovery.

A complicated situation arises when a matter before a public body involves subjects that may be discussed behind closed doors and subjects not exempt from public discussion. The appellate court has stated, based on the facts of the case before it, that when some subjects are exempt from open discussion and other are not exempt, if segregation of the materials into open and closed sessions would make a coherent discussion pragmatically impossible, it is reasonable to close the entire meeting. In such a situation it is generally the best policy, in order to avoid the appearance of impropriety, to discuss as much of the subject as possible in open meeting. Remember, the KOMA permits certain subjects to be discussed privately—it does not require it. Public agencies can always discuss topics in the open meeting, as openness is the presumption in Kansas.

8.5.5 Procedure for Recessing to Executive Session

K.S.A. § 75-4319(a) provides the statutory requirements for executive session including:

- (1) A statement describing the subjects to be discussed during the closed or executive meeting;
- (2) The justification listed in subsection (b) for closing the meeting; and
- (3) The time and place at which the open meeting shall resume.
The following form can help your governing body adhere to the requirements of the law.

K.S.A. § 75-4319 provides, in part, that the “complete motion shall be recorded in the minutes of the meeting and shall be maintained as a part of the permanent records of the [county]. Discussion during the closed or executive session shall be limited to those subjects stated in the motion.”

This form, if completed and followed, should meet the statutory requirements.

If you have questions, contact your attorney.

If there are doubts, resolve the question in favor of the public’s right to know and conduct the discussion in an open meeting.

8.6.1 Civil Penalties

The KOMA provides for civil, not criminal, penalties. There are three types of penalties: (1) fines; (2) injunction/mandamus; or (3) voiding the action improperly taken in executive session.

If a prosecutor brings a KOMA action, the court can assess a fine not to exceed $500 for each violation. Any person—including the Attorney General, the county attorney, or the district attorney—can bring an injunction or mandamus action. Generally an injunction requires a public official to stop performing some act, and a mandamus mandates that a public official perform a certain act.

An action to void any action taken by the public body that violated the KOMA must be brought by the Attorney General, the county attorney, or the district attorney. Such an action must be filed within 21 days of the alleged violation. The appellate court has said that it will not void any action and will overlook technical violations of the law if the spirit of the law was met, there was a good-faith effort to comply, there was substantial compliance with the KOMA, no one was prejudiced, and the public’s right-to-know was not effectively denied.

8.6.2 Enforcement Procedure

The county or district attorney and the Attorney General have concurrent jurisdiction to investigate or bring an action. Private individuals may bring an action for mandamus or injunction. Jurisdiction is proper in the county where the action occurred. The courts are directed to give KOMA cases precedence on the docket and to assign the earliest possible hearing and trial dates.

The state has the initial burden to show prima facie that a violation occurred. The burden of proof shall be on the public body or agency to sustain its action. The plaintiff may receive court costs if a violation of the law is established. The defendant may receive costs only if the suit was frivolous. Specific intent to violate the law is not required. A
“knowing” violation occurs where there is purposeful commission of the prohibited acts.\textsuperscript{lxxii}

Violation of the open meetings law can be grounds for ouster from office.\textsuperscript{lxxiii} Additionally, \textit{alleged} violation of the KOMA can be grounds for recall.\textsuperscript{lxxiv} Any action for ouster or recall must be pursued separately and does not happen automatically with the KOMA violation.
Appendix D – Kansas Open Records Act (KORA)

Note: The following is part of the KORA information contained in the County Desk Book 2019 published by the Kansas Association of Counties. For more complete information the desk book can be downloaded from the Kansas Association of Counties website. Townships have to follow the same requirements as the counties and cities.

9.1.1 Intent of the Law

The legislature has declared that public records should be open for inspection by any person, unless a law closes the record to the public. The law that states this principle, K.S.A. § 45-215 et seq. provides the framework for access to public records. It provides a presumption in favor of disclosure, and the KORA is to be liberally construed. The Kansas Supreme Court has stated:

The Kansas Open Meetings Act… and KORA were passed by the legislature to ensure public confidence in government by increasing the access of the public to government and its decision making processes. This increases the accountability of governmental bodies and deters official misconduct.

9.1.2 Public Record Defined

A “public record” is defined by statute as “any recorded information, regardless of form, characteristics or location, which is made, maintained or kept by or is in the possession of any public agency or any officer or employee of a public agency pursuant to the officer’s or employee’s official duties.” This definition was amended by the legislature in 2016 in response to an Attorney General opinion suggesting that public employees using their private device and private email to discuss matters related to public functions, activities, programs, or operations were not considered public records. As a result of the amendments to the definition, it is now clear that information on private devices can also be a public record.

The KORA excludes certain documents from the definition, a list that now stands at 55 exceptions. Records owned by private persons that are unrelated to a governmental function, are not public records. Neither are records made, maintained, or kept by a legislator or members of a governing body. This statute also provides that employers’ records regarding individually identifiable contributions made on behalf of employees for worker’s compensation, social security, unemployment insurance, or retirement are not public records.

Throughout the years the Kansas Attorney General has stated that a public agency is not required to create a document or prepare a document in a certain form for someone requesting particular information. The court has further said that deleting confidential information or extracting requested information from a public record does not constitute creating a new record.
9.2.1 Access to Records

Each county, and every public agency in Kansas, must adopt procedures for granting access and obtaining copies of public records.\textsuperscript{lxxv} Public agencies must also appoint a local Freedom of Information Officer (FIO).\textsuperscript{lxxxvi} The FIO has several statutory duties: (1) prepare and provide educational materials concerning KORA; (2) assist the public in resolving KORA disputes; (3) respond to any questions about KORA; and (4) prepare a brochure about KORA.\textsuperscript{lxxxvii} The Kansas Association of Counties has brochures that satisfy the requirements of the statute. When possible, the FIO is not the same as the official custodian of the records as the FIO helps facilitate record requests in cases when problems arise with the custodian. Often the attorney in a public agency serves as the FIO.

The Kansas statute regarding access to public records spells out the duties and responsibilities of the records custodian.\textsuperscript{lxxxviii} The official custodian is “any officer or employee of a public agency who is responsible for the maintenance of public records” and the custodian is any person designated by the official custodian to carry out the duties prescribed by the KORA.\textsuperscript{lxxxix}

No public records can be removed from the agency without written permission of the records custodian. Each agency must make suitable facilities available for persons to inspect records during regular office hours.\textsuperscript{xc}

A custodian must act upon a request for access to public records as soon as possible, but not later than the end of the third business day following the date the request was received.\textsuperscript{xci} Many people interpret this provision to mean they have three business days to fill the request – that is not what the law says. It says \textit{as soon as possible} – the third business day is the \textit{latest} date the request can be acted upon.

If access is not granted immediately, the custodian must give a detailed explanation for the delay and the place and time the record will be available for inspection. If the request for access is denied, the custodian must provide, upon request, a written statement of the legal grounds for denial.\textsuperscript{xcii}

If the custodian has any questions whether access should be given to a record, she should check with her county counselor or county attorney. The attorney can also assist in preparing a response if the request is denied.

An agency may require the following: (1) payment of fees in advance; (2) that the request is in writing; and (3) proof of the requester’s identity.\textsuperscript{xciii} The law also states that a custodian may refuse to provide access to records if the request “places an unreasonable burden in producing public records or…if repeated requests are intended to disrupt other essential functions of the public agency.”\textsuperscript{xciv} Very rarely will any request fall within this exception. The burden of proving that a request is an unreasonable burden or disruptive will be on the custodian if the matter goes to court.
9.2.2 Copies of Records and Fees

The KORA provides that persons not only have the right of access to public records, but that any person may make abstracts or obtain copies of public records. The act clearly states that copies are to be made while they are in the possession, custody, and control of the custodian and under the custodian’s supervision. Ideally, copies are to be made where the records are departmentalized. If that is not possible, the custodian may make arrangements to use other facilities.

A public agency is not required to provide copies of radio or recording tapes or discs, videotapes or films, pictures, slides, graphics, illustrations, or other similar items unless the items were shown or played at a public meeting. However, a public agency is not required to make a copy (and should not do so) if the item is copyrighted.

The KORA was originally enacted into law before the widespread use of computers by governmental agencies. Computerized records are treated the same as paper public records. The Attorney General has issued several opinions in regard to computerized records. Computerized public information must be provided in the form requested if the public agency has the capability of producing that form. An agency is not required to acquire or design a special program to produce information in a desired form, but may allow an individual who requests such information to design or provide a computer program to obtain the information in the desired form. For example, if a county’s voter registration list is computerized, the county election officer must produce the list on a flash drive or in some other computer readable form, rather than in the form of a computer printout, if the agency has the capability of providing the information in that format.

In A.G. 2009-14 the Attorney General said that a county may enter into a contract with a private company to provide remote computer access to copies of county records; however, such a contract does not relieve the county from its requirements under KORA to provide public access to the same records in a format requested by the public. The private company is not bound by KORA (which applies to public agencies) and can charge prices beyond actual costs of producing the copies. The duty to redact any personal information from the public record remains with the records custodian—the county—and does not shift to the private company.

Agencies are authorized by law to charge reasonable fees to recoup their costs in providing access to and copies of records. The fees cannot exceed the actual cost of furnishing copies—including the cost of staff time to make the information available. In the case of records on computer, the fees can only include the cost of the computer services and the staff time involved in producing the information. A higher authority must approve fees established by individual state agencies. For agencies within the executive branch of government, a copy charge of $0.25 per page or less is presumed to be reasonable. There is no authority to approve local access fees; the only requirement is that such fees be reasonable. In 1987, the Attorney General said that a $0.20 per page fee charged by a school district was not unreasonable as it reflected actual costs.
Appendix

A custodian should always be available during business hours. An agency may require a request to be in writing, but cannot require any more information than the requester’s name, address, and the desired records. If the requester is obtaining a list of names and addresses, the custodian can, and should, obtain certification that the information will not be used for solicitation purposes. The KORA states that access to records cannot be denied or delayed because the request is technically flawed, unless it is impossible to determine what records are desired. Best practices require asking courteous questions of the requestor if you are unsure as to what records they are requesting, as a simple conversation may clarify what records are desired.

9.3.1 Records Closed by Law

The presumption is that all records of a public agency are open to the public. KORA provides, however, that if a federal law, state law, Supreme Court Rule, or a legislative rule mandates that a record be kept confidential, that record is not subject to KORA disclosure. For example, tax returns, ballots, expunged criminal records, and child abuse records are closed by Kansas law and are not open to the public. The Attorney General has opined that an individual does not have the right to inspect every record that bears his or her name if by law that record is closed to the public. Note that probable cause affidavits in support of a warrant are governed by a separate statute, K.S.A. § 22-2302, and requires filing a request with the court. For further exemptions see http://medialaw.ku.edu/opengovt/recordstatute.shtml.

It is important to know and keep abreast of the laws that your agency carries out or enforces. If the law demands confidentiality, then the county should not disclose the record under KORA. If a document contains both confidential and public information under KORA, the county must redact the confidential portion and make the rest of the record available to the requester.

9.3.2 Records an Agency has Discretion to Disclose
K.S.A. § 45-221(a) lists records that public agencies need not disclose. The public agency has discretion whether to make these records available for public inspection.\textsuperscript{cxvi} Many of these records are specific to certain agencies and receive no discussion here. There are, however, some discretionary records common to local government.

Because a public agency \textit{can} release these records, it is important to determine whether there is any legitimate reason not to release the record. If there is no solid legal reason to deny the record, such as protecting a person’s privacy or preventing a lawsuit, then the county should release the record to promote open government.

One important exception to KORA is personnel records, performance ratings, or individually identifiable records pertaining to employees or applicants for employment—these are not records for disclosure.\textsuperscript{cxvii} The main legal reason supporting this exception is the protection of employee privacy. “Personnel” means employees. True independent contractors are not personnel, though counties must ensure contractors are not actually misclassified employees.\textsuperscript{cxviii} Note that the law also states that the names, positions, salaries, lengths of service of public officers, and employees and employment contracts are public records for disclosure upon request.\textsuperscript{cxix} A.G. 2010-3 determined that salary does not include accrued but unpaid vacation or sick leave. Records of payments made to employees for vacation or sick leave are open records, however.

In an earlier opinion, the Attorney General stated that if a public agency creates an employee directory containing the names and addresses of employees taken from personnel files, the agency has created a new public record. Thus, the directory is a public record available for disclosure.\textsuperscript{cxx} One qualifier, however, is K.S.A. § 45-221(51) and (52), which the 2012 Legislature altered to exclude law enforcement, prosecutors, and judges from any such disclosure. KAC has created additional guidance on how to maneuver the discretionary disclosure laws. Contact KAC for more information via e-mail: info@kansascounties.org.

Also under the list of records for discretionary disclosure are “letters of reference or recommendation pertaining to the character or qualifications of an identifiable individual.” A county may keep these records confidential unless the individual is selected to fill a vacant elected office.\textsuperscript{cxxi} An agency may refuse to disclose an individual’s specific test scores on employment tests and examinations, but records that show only passage or failure are open for disclosure upon request.\textsuperscript{cxxii}

Another type of discretionary record includes records containing information of a personal nature when public disclosure of the document would constitute a “clearly unwarranted invasion” of an individual’s personal privacy.\textsuperscript{cxxxiii} In 2005, the Kansas Supreme Court discussed this topic and stated:

\begin{quote}
We conclude that where balancing the privacy interests of the individual with the public’s need to know or, more specifically, where disclosure of the personal or private information fails to significantly serve the principal \end{quote}
purpose of the KORA, nondisclosure is favored if such nondisclosure complies with other requirements of KORA.\textsuperscript{cxxiv}

The Kansas Legislature also added a definition of “clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy” to K.S.A. § 45-217: “revealing information that would be highly offensive to a reasonable person, including information that may pose a risk to a person or property and is not of legitimate concern to the public.” The attorney general addressed this change in A.G. 06-8. It is unclear how this change affects prior opinions. For example, the Attorney General has said that a law enforcement agency may decline, in certain circumstances, to reveal the name, address, and phone number of a victim of a sex crime contained on the first page of the standard offense report, which is a public record.\textsuperscript{cxxv} Similarly, a public library may refuse to disclose patron and circulation records that pertain to identifiable individuals—though the USA PATRIOT Act may override this exemption.\textsuperscript{cxxvi}

Notes, preliminary drafts, memoranda, recommendations, or other such documents fall under the discretionary disclosure list. But this exemption does not apply if the agency discusses or cites the document.\textsuperscript{cxxvii} For example, a memorandum from the county administrator sent to each county commissioner can remain confidential. If, however, the commissioners discuss the memo at a public meeting, the county must disclose the document upon request.

An agency has discretion to keep confidential correspondence between the agency and a private individual. But, a letter that gives “notice of any action, policy or determination relating to any regulatory, supervisory or enforcement responsibility of the public agency” must be available for public inspection.\textsuperscript{cxxviii}

Several records on the discretionary list relate to competitive bids. An agency need not: (1) disclose bid specifications until the agency officially approves them; (2) release sealed bids and related documents until a bid is accepted or all bids rejected; (3) engineering and architectural estimates made by or for any public agency relative to public improvements; or (4) financial information submitted by contractors in qualification statements to any public agency.\textsuperscript{cxxix}

The fact that a record contains information not required to be disclosed does not necessarily close the entire record. Rather, the agency must delete that portion and make available the material in the public record that is subject to disclosure.\textsuperscript{cxxx} Further, the KORA specifically states that if a record contains information concerning an identifiable individual that is not required to be disclosed, the public agency must delete the identifying portions of the record and make any remaining portions of the record available to a requester. The Kansas Supreme Court stated, “[t]he KORA does not specifically mention who is to bear the cost of redaction. It does, however, make clear the legislative intent that actual costs of furnishing copies of public records may be recovered by the agency and that the person seeking the records should bear the actual expense.”\textsuperscript{cxxxi} Statistical information descriptive of no identifiable person is always open.
for public review. Finally, if a record exempt from disclosure has existed for 70 years or more, the record must be open to the public unless otherwise specified by law.\textsuperscript{cxiii}

9.3.4 Old Records and Retention

The Kansas State Historical Society (KSHS) serves as the manager of historical government records and, in that role, the KSHS determines record retention schedules and the manner in which government records are stored or destroyed.\textsuperscript{cxxiv} The records act covers most local records, but certain election records are covered in the election statutes.\textsuperscript{cxsv}

The Kansas State Historical Society has online information to help local governments determine their record retention policies. The \textit{Local Records Management Manual} is available at \url{www.kshs.org/government/records/localgovt/index.htm}. KSHS also has record retention schedules for all county offices at \url{www.kshs.org/p/retention-schedules/11368}

These schedules contain descriptions of various county records, how long to retain them, and how to dispose of them. All county offices must adhere to the established retention schedules.\textsuperscript{cxxxvi} KSHS recommends forming a County Records Board to implement a records plan. The organization recommends including the County Clerk, Register of Deeds, County Treasurer, one or more Commissioners, County Counselor, and a representative from the County Historical/Genealogical Society.\textsuperscript{cxxxvii}

Aside from these general laws relating to county records, the Board may, by resolution, provide for and authorize any county officer to photograph, microphotograph, digitally store, or reproduce any records, papers, or documents in the officer’s custody for the purpose of storing documents more efficiently or safely. Court records are exempt from this provision. The photographic film, prints, or reproductions must conform to specific statutory standards.\textsuperscript{cxxxviii}

9.4.1 Reporting of Complaints

The county or district attorney of each county must annually report to the attorney general all complaints received during the preceding fiscal year concerning KORA and the Kansas Open Meeting Act (KOMA) violations and the disposition of each complaint. The attorney general will then compile the information with the attorney general’s office’s investigations of KORA and KOMA violations. The attorney general annually publishes a list of information with the names of the public agencies that are the subject of complaints and investigations.\textsuperscript{cxxxix}

9.4.2 Enforcement

The Kansas district courts have jurisdiction to enforce the KORA.\textsuperscript{cxl} The remedies to enforce the act, mandamus, or injunction are civil, not criminal. Any person may bring the action. The Act allows either the attorney general or the county or district attorney to file the action. The courts are directed to assign KORA actions to the earliest hearing and trial dates possible. The burden is on the agency to prove that the record in question is exempt from disclosure.\textsuperscript{cxli} The court awards the plaintiff attorney fees if it finds that the agency’s denial of access to the record was unreasonable and not in good faith. This includes attorney’s fees upon appeal as well.\textsuperscript{cxlii} Any public agency subject to KORA that knowingly violates any provision of the act or intentionally fails to furnish information as required is liable for payment of a civil penalty up to $500 for each violation.\textsuperscript{cxliii} If the agency is the prevailing party, the court will award attorney fees if the court finds that the action was unreasonable and not in good faith.\textsuperscript{cxliv}

A vote on an amendment is not a final vote on the underlying substantive motion. To pass the underlying substantive motion requires a vote.

Section 20. Motion to Pass an Ordinance. All ordinances of the township shall be considered at a public meeting of the governing body. After consideration and amendment (if any) of the ordinance, the question shall be: "Shall the ordinance pass?" Such motion shall be recorded in the minutes of the meeting. The meeting may not reconvene until the time stated in the motion.

Section 25. Motion to Adjourn to a Later Date and Time. If the governing body is unable to complete its agenda during the time allotted for the meeting, the meeting may be adjourned to a time and date certain to continue the regular or special meeting. The motion shall state the time, place, and date for the meeting to reconvene. If the motion is adopted, the meeting is adjourned to the specified time, place, and date.

Section 26. Motion to Adjourn. At the conclusion of the agenda, a motion to adjourn is in order and requires a majority vote.
Voting

Section 27. Form of Vote. All votes shall be by voice vote or, in the alternative, the mayor may request that a vote be by "show of hands." No vote shall be by secret ballot.

Any member who abstains must state, for the purpose of its inclusion in the minutes, the reason for the abstention.

Section 30. Recording. Upon final passage of a matter, the vote shall be recorded in the minutes.

Application & Amendment

Section 31. Rules. For those matters not covered by these rules, the procedure shall be as decided by a majority vote of the governing body. These rules may be amended after adoption by a subsequent ordinance amending specific rules as identified in the ordinance. Such ordinance amends the adopting ordinance. The rules may not be suspended by the governing body during any meeting.
Appendix F – Interlocal Cooperation

This appendix was extracted from the County Commissioners Desk Book published by the Kansas Association of Counties.

INTRODUCTION

Kansas local governments have broad legal authority to cooperate as to the performance of public functions and services. There are three general types of Kansas statutes on intergovernmental cooperation:

1. The Interlocal Cooperation Act allows two or more local units to do cooperatively or jointly that which they are commonly empowered to do.
2. The Interlocal Service Statutes provide broad authority for any city or county to contract with any other city or county to perform any governmental service, activity or undertaking, which each contracting city or county is authorized to perform by law.
3. The Functional Consolidation Statute gives counties, townships, cities, school districts, library districts, park districts, road districts, drainage or levee districts, sewer districts, water districts, and other taxing subdivisions created under state law, broad authority to consolidate operations, procedures and functions in the interest of efficiency and effectiveness.

The general cooperative statutes are not the only authority for interlocal cooperation; there are several specific cooperation statutes that authorize two or more governmental units to cooperate as to a certain function or service. The general highway and public works statutes promote cooperation between local and state public works and highway agencies, for instance.

INTERLOCAL COOPERATION ACT

K.S.A. 12-2901 et. seq. comprises the Kansas Interlocal Cooperation Act. This law essentially permits any two or more public agencies to do cooperatively or jointly that which they are commonly empowered to do. The agencies involved in the intergovernmental cooperation venture may include this state, any other state, the United States, an Indian tribe, or any private agency, as well as local units of government including counties, townships, cities, school districts and other districts. The definition is broad enough to cover any separate political or taxing subdivision of the state.

Since its enactment in 1957, the purposes specified in the statute as permissible areas of cooperation have been expanded. The present statute permits cooperation in such areas as:

1. economic development
2. public improvements
3. public utilities
4. police protection
5. public security and safety
6. emergency preparedness (including but not limited to intelligence, anti-terrorism and disaster recovery)
7. libraries
8. data processing services
9. educational services,
10. building and related inspection services
11. flood control and storm water drainage
12. weather modification
13. sewage disposal and refuse disposal
14. park and recreational programs and facilities
15. ambulance service
16. fire protection
17. the Kansas Tort Claims Act or claims for civil rights violations

These specified areas are illustrative, and not exclusive, so agreements under the statute are not limited to the above illustrations. Interlocal agreements increase the capacity and efficiency of local or smaller governmental entities by allowing them to:

1. Realize economies of scale.
2. Solve common problems through joint action.
3. Deliver governmental services that might otherwise be unavailable.
4. Reduce costs and create efficiencies

Contents of the Agreement

The requirements of an interlocal agreement are outlined in K.S.A. 12-2904. The statute requires that the agreement list the purpose of the agreement, its duration, any separate entity, joint board or administrator created by the agreement, the manner of financing, the permissible methods of terminating the agreement and disposing of the property, and any other necessary and proper matters.

Approval by the Attorney General

Written agreements entered into under this statute are to be reviewed by the attorney general to determine if they are in proper form. Agreements between two or more public agencies establishing a council or other organization of local governments for the promotion of intergovernmental cooperation need not be submitted for review by the attorney general.

Filing

An interlocal agreement must be filed with the register of deeds of each county where the public agencies are located, and also with the Kansas Secretary of State. This requirement is outlined in K.S.A. 12-2905. Failure to file the agreement as required by law does not affect the validity of the agreement.
INTERLOCAL SERVICE STATUTES

Unlike an interlocal joint cooperation agreement where both public agencies enter into an agreement for joint responsibilities, an interlocal service contract usually allows for one public agency to perform the service for other, in return for payment.

For example, K.S.A. 12-2908 provides broad authority for any city, county or township to contract with any other city, county or township to perform any governmental service, activity or undertaking, which each contracting city, county or township is authorized to perform by law. The approval of the attorney general is not required. The contract must be authorized by the governing bodies and must set forth the purpose, powers, rights, objectives and responsibilities of the contracting parties.

Because of its broad authorization and simplicity, this act is being increasingly used when only cities and/or counties are involved in a service arrangement. When a joint public agency is needed, or where the joint or cooperative performance of a service is required, the interlocal cooperation act is used.

An interlocal services contract under this statute is not considered an interlocal agreement under K.S.A. 12-2901 et. seq. cxlix

FUNCTIONAL CONSOLIDATION STATUTE

A third statute entitled “Governmental Organization” is found at K.S.A. 12-3901 et. seq., and gives counties, townships, cities, school districts, library districts, park districts, road districts, drainage or levee districts, sewer districts, water districts, fire districts, and other taxing subdivisions created under state law, broad authority to consolidate operations, procedures and functions in the interest of efficiency and effectiveness.

Consolidation under this statute occurs within a single governmental unit (“internal” consolidation), or through joint action of two or more governmental units (“external” consolidation). The governing body, or governing bodies, must first find by resolution that duplication exists and that operations, procedures or functions can be more efficiently and effectively exercised by consolidation. An office or agency is then designated to perform the consolidated function, and the time, form, and manner of implementation of the consolidation is set. Identical resolutions must be passed by each governing body when more than one governmental unit is involved in a consolidation.

Elimination of an elective office must be approved by a majority of the electors who are being served by that office. The election must be held in the county where the elective office is located, and the election must be held at the same time as an election for governor of the state of Kansas. The office cannot be eliminated until the election. cl A transfer or elimination of statutory duties from an elected office is considered an elimination of the office and must be submitted to election as well. cl
